

Pokemon: Starlight

{Season 1} [Vol 1] Chapter 1: A Burning Sensation

Location: Nuvema Town : Unova

Nuvema Town, A town filled with new beginnings. A boy named Brandon wakes up in an exciting mood. Today he would get his first Pokemon, something he'd been waiting for. Waiting for a long time. On the other side of town, a girl named Jasmine woke up in excitement. She couldn't wait any longer, because this would be the first day where she'd get a Pokemon and nobody would want to miss that day. Not Brandon, not Jasmine, not anyone. They would be heading over to Professor Juniper's lab to claim their first Pokemon.

Snivy, Tepig, Oshawott, these were always the choices given to people starting their Pokemon journey, it didn't matter if they were young or old, anyone could get a Pokemon if they were over the age of thirteen by new law. But if they wanted to try and catch their own Pokemon then they could, and they could become a Pokemon trainer just like that.

Brandon jumped out of his bed and got ready for the big day. Brandon ran downstairs to tell his mom the news. Which she already knew but Brandon just wanted to make sure because to him, no one could miss out on this event. Brandon's mom told Brandon, "Alright kiddo, today's the big day. Go to Professor Juniper's lab and get your first Pokemon. I'll be there soon." Brandon only nodded and rushed out of the house. He couldn't say anything. Not now, his only thoughts were about getting his first Pokemon. While he ran he passed a giant billboard. 'Gym Leader Skyla from Mistralton City coming to Nuvema Town. August 13, 2010.'

Brandon arrived at Professor Juniper's lab. "Today's the day, it's finally time!" Brandon yelled with excitement. "It's time to go inside." Brandon went inside of the laboratory. There he found a boy somewhere his age and someone else that looked familiar. "My Oshawott!" The boy yelled. "There there, Brandon," Professor Juniper comforted. "It's okay, I'll take care of your Oshawott!" The woman who looked familiar said, "Worrying will do you no good, it will only stress Oshawott out!" Brandon looked at Oshawott and apologized. "Thank you, Skyla..." Brandon thanked Skyla. Skyla... That's why she looked familiar to Brandon. A gym leader is inside of the laboratory, "Skyla!?" Brandon blurted out loud. Everything looked behind and they saw Brandon, and Jasmine who joined in and heard Brandon blurt out.
