

The Great Bothrioc Salvaging Project

Master Document

Summary

The bothrioc are a mono-gendered race native to Myrellion, the spiders to the myr's ants and the nyrea's neotroglia. They do not have genitals per se, instead relying entirely on their abdominal ovipositor to collect genetic material from a target and then stuffing their fertilized eggs into a handy nearby orifice. The catch is that their sexual fluids has a transformative and psychological effect on repeat exposure; it makes the target more submissive and suited to being a good little incubator. Most of them are bipedal (looking similar to the spider boys/girls from CoC) but a small minority are much bigger and have eight limbs. These "quadommes" usually occupy leadership positions, and maintain large harems of subs.

Similar to the nyrea, the bothrioc consider themselves apex predators but are now a primitive and backward concern thanks to the advances of the myr. Prominent quadomme Ara Kei Enya is fighting to get them better representation within the U.G.C.

The concept and much of the writing was produced by Shax, a contributor who sadly left before getting close to completing it. This project aims to finish everything she set out to do, as well as flesh it out in a few key ways.
