

The following pamphlet is promptly circulated through the halls of Saint Reymanaud's Cathedral and from there passes through all interested channels and ranks of Ishgardian society.

Whereas the so-called "All Saints' Wake" festival season made popular in the South has become established in the Firmament of Ishgard by the traffic of foreign peoples and its adoption by native Ishgardians,

Whereas the festival season was born of the odious and indefensible teachings of Southern priests, who have taught that every year the Twelve honor the saints, and saints alone, to the exclusion of all other souls within the Heavens and to the detriment and abandonment of living Men,

Whereas it is written in Volume Eleven of the Seventy-Two Articles of Halonic Polity that "Of the Fury's love will all men receive" and that all are "Equal under her ever-watchful gaze," and these teachings are in accord with received truth on the Creation of the world,

Whereas it is proven by the above that it is heretical to teach, like the Ul'dahns, that Halone distinguishes betwixt those souls recognized as saints and all those who have found purchase into the Heavens,

And whereas the humble and obedient members of the Church sin by omission in failing to steer their brothers and sisters away from the road to Hells,

It has become necessary for the Church and Inquisition to stand fast against the error which has established itself within the body politic and spiritual, demand of our representatives in the House of Commons to introduce legislation to forbid its practice with the full force of the Temple Knights and Inquisition both behind it.

May it be taught in the classrooms of Saint Endalim's Scholasticate and all academies, temporal and spiritual, given at the pulpit of Saint Reymanaud's Cathedral and all obedient churches.

Blessed are we who receive of Her wisdom and see justice wrought by Her divine hand.

By the hand of Judithe Reinette Farrand.
