Addendum 4: Document 602-CP1, Contact Protocol

As a result of contacts 002 through 017 (see respective contact logs for details), the following protocols have been developed for successful interaction with ARC-602; "successful" is defined as ">90% survival rate".

1. Always announce yourself at the door before entering.
2. Do not touch the statues.
3. Do not make any negative comments about the statues or their artistic merits. Constructive criticism seems to be acceptable.
4. Do not touch the sculpting tools. If replacement sculpting tools have been supplied, ARC-602 will place its discarded tools in a bucket by the door; the bucket may be collected when leaving the apartment.
5. All surveillance devices must be announced before installation, and their function must be clearly described. ARC-602 promptly locates and destroys all hidden or otherwise unacknowledged surveillance devices, and uses the debris as projectiles. Surveillance devices which were properly announced remain intact and operational until such time as ARC-602 wishes to create or modify a statue, at which point it deactivates all surveillance devices simultaneously; when it is finished, it reactivates the surveillance devices.
6. Never enter the apartment alone.
7. No flash photography.
8. No smoking.
9. No spitting.
10. No chewing gum.
