

The error bars show the 95% confidence interval.

Calculated from finding some statistics on the CAAP which reported a typical standard deviation of being about 5, since none was given in the paper (the paper said to contact the author for the standard deviation).