

Important Info

- Itsuki is unable to commit any act of transformation himself without his gloves, which contain nanotechnology developed by Professor Nuht T, capable of copying or modifying DNA sequences.
- Itsuki's name and gender typically stay the same, though his name and gender will still be listed with each form as there could potentially be a difference at some point in the future.
- The first appearance of a particular form will be listed in the Earth date that it happened, though this may not align perfectly with when it happened in Itsuki's story. Dates are written as MM.DD.YYYY.
- There will be a description of how each change happened if I have a story for it.

Example Form Name

- Feather's name
- Date the form happened for the first time
- Sample text explanation of how, and who was involved
- Gender (when constant)
- Height (Forms after 04.04.2022 will not have a height listed. In addition, the heights may not reflect current sizes perfectly)

Creature Transformations

1 - Yoshi~

-Itsuki

-08.20.2020

(In-Universe Hatchday: 03.11.2004)

-Itsuki is a green Yoshi about Feather's age and height who hatched on Marshgreen Island. He's always taken a particular interest in sea life and even began to wish he could transform into a sea creature shortly after meeting the transformation-obsessed Feather. Although his gloves allow him to easily alter whatever his main form is, he prefers to stick to his Yoshi body as being his true form.

2 - Cheep-Cheep

-Itsuki

-10.22.2020

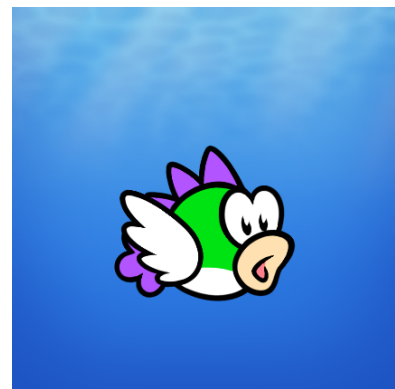

-Upon Feather's eventual return to Marshgreen Island after his first ever trip to the Mushroom Kingdom, he had brought with him a box with an explosive TF gas. He set it up perfectly by placing the box outside his own home, then secretly telling another Yoshi in the village to let Itsuki know he's come back. When Itsuki does check out the box, everything looks fine until it explodes in his face, rapidly turning his whole body into a Cheep Cheep. Despite this being a secret desire, he angrily chases Feather down and starts a back and forth "TF War" with Feather.

3 - Koopa Troopa

-Itsuki, though Feather jokingly calls him Koopsuki
-11.05.2021

-As a continuation of their little "TF War" and a vengeance for turning him into Itsuki, turning him into a Pless on top of that, and then running away, Feather decided to transform Itsuki into a Koopa Troopa with a long tail that has two light purple spikes on it. In the process, he also made sure to hypnotize Itsuki so that he believes that his existence as a Koopa has always been the odd truth. Just like leaving how he had left Feather as his clone for a while, Itsuki was left to believe he's a Koopa for a while, allowing his mind time to adjust to this to only cause further confusion upon being changed back.

Notably, Koopa Troopa Itsuki has two primary color schemes. The yellow-scaled color scheme (the more common one) is the result of Feather or some other transformative magic being involved, while the green-scaled color scheme is the result of Itsuki transforming himself. The latter is due to his gloves not changing the colors of his body beyond a minimal amount.

5 - Bob-omb

-Itsuki

-09.24.2022

-Itsuki was shopping in Toad Town when Feather decided to take revenge on him for keeping him as a Charmeleon for months on end. Itsuki had a fuse attached to his head and lit with a transformative fire, causing his whole body to explode. When he came to, he was lying on the ground next to the destroyed fountain with Feather staring him straight in the eyes. He realized he lacked hands and felt more mechanical and round, and— oop. Apparently Feather had lured Toad Town in with a “magic trick” in turning Itsuki into a Bob-omb, how humiliating! And it seems like he’s stuck this way for a while too, because Feather took his gloves (that he can no longer use anyway).

6 - Electabuzz

-Itsuki

-09.29.2022

-While Birds106 and Itsuki were talking, Itsuki had brought up why he’s a Bob-omb and expressed his frustration with not having arms. Birds got an idea, and used an Electrizer to turn Itsuki into an Electabuzz. Although his desire to have arms again was granted, he’s angered by the fact that he got transformed again, and when he tries to go swim in a pond, he accidentally sends an electric shock into himself and the entire pond, possibly killing any sea life that was in there. Whoops! Turns out this was all to make up for Birds turning Feather into a Magmar! The two then agree that Feather would turn Itsuki back into a Bob-omb the day after.

7 - Dry Bones

-Itsuki

-01.01.2023

-As a gift for the New Year, Feather gave him a Dry Bones shell with the promise that he'll at least make sure Itsuki has arms again (he was still a Bob-omb at this point) if he humors him a little, instructing Itsuki to just get in the shell and crouch. When he did, for a split second, he could see what seemed like an empty Dry Bones appearing and capturing him as the shell flipped him over, before he ultimately fell unconscious. When he came to, Itsuki noticed his vision was completely different and that he no longer could feel any flesh at all. He had become a Dry Bones. Terrifying!

-07.17.2023

-Itsuki had a fun idea, once again, another prank on Feather. This time, though, Swiss got caught up in the crossfire too. As Feather and Swiss were walking through a forest, talking, Itsuki threw two Pokéballs at them, causing both to be transformed into Lugias upon being hit. Though, it backfired pretty quickly when Itsuki couldn't hold in his own laughter. Happy Lugia Day!

-Itsuki

-11.20.2023

-Visiting Neo Bowser City, Feather stopped by King Scoopa Koopa's. After seeing a picture on the wall of their Chickadactyl farm, Feather got the idea to order an Egg Scoopa Koopa Burger and use his powers to add a... special effect to it. Later, he gave the burger to Itsuki, who ate it unknowingly. Before he was even fully finished, Itsuki had been transformed into a Chickadactyl himself!

15 - Fish-Yoshi (Part 1)

-Itsuki

-02.19.2024... sorta

////////// MAJOR SPOILERS for "Fish Scales" //////////

-This form... technically hasn't happened. Itsuki felt unhappy with his life, so in an attempt to fix everything, he took Professor Nuht T.'s time machine and went back to the day in 2010 when Feather accidentally led Piranha Plants to the village, except he was slightly too late. Regardless, he turned Feather back around once he reached the beach, and then everything changed... for the worse. So, he tried to change everything back, but the time machine was no longer on the beach. And, he had never formally met Professor Nuht T, so he couldn't transform himself. Itsuki had no choice but to teach Feather how to use his own powers in this new timeline, and then Feather turned Itsuki into a more aquatic version of himself. Itsuki then held onto this form as he returned to the Mushroom Kingdom, went back to the past, and stopped his younger, non-aquatically suited self from breaking the timeline. However, because of his actions, this iteration of Itsuki faded from existence, and the other iteration returned without anything happening. So, by technicality, this form has never happened.

-11.13.2023

-One day, Yosho stumbled upon a seemingly harmless traveling caravan, carrying all kinds of interesting cloths and fabrics. Yosho got a gray shirt with green triangles on it, thinking it would match with Itsuki and his gloves before dashing off to deliver the present, unaware of the true origins of the shirt. Upon presenting the cloth to Itsuki with beaming eyes (Itsuki being skeptical and hesitant to wear the shirt at first, but Yosho for once seeming genuine in his intentions and giving those puppy dog eyes), he watched as Itsuki tried on the shirt, and sure enough, it fit surprisingly well! Happy to have done a good deed for a close friend and technical brother, Yosho departed. However, as Itsuki awoke the next morning, he found that everything felt..... off. Proceeding to look in the mirror, Itsuki was met not with the face of a mischievous dino, but a toony wallaby straight out of the 90's! He looked almost exactly like Rocko! (Though seeing as he probably didn't know Rocko, he just saw himself as a toony wallaby.) Even his art style had changed! Looked like Yosho accidentally gifted Itsuki a cursed shirt! Luckily, after taking the shirt off he was able to revert to normal..... but then an idea brewed. Itsuki didn't even recognize himself in that state and look, so perhaps no one else would either?

Other Notable TF Moments

There has been a note-worthy moment relating to transformation in which Itsuki himself was not fully transformed. Primarily, these have to do with others becoming Itsuki.

1 - Yoshi

-Itsuki (II)

-Previously: Feather

-03.13.2021

-Feather was feeling a bit down, so Itsuki figured he could make him happier by taking his mind off of his own life... and onto Itsuki's. He used the transformation nanotechnology-imbued gloves Professor Nuht T. had just recently given him to start transforming Feather into himself, Itsuki. This included both body and mind, so for a time, he truly believed he was a clone of Itsuki, and always had been.

-During the month or two that Itsuki had turned Feather into himself, Itsuki I thought it would be fun to take Itsuki II to a beach, where he would then turn Itsuki II into a giant Plessie and ride himself across the water.
In other words, Itsuki himself has technically never been a Plessie, but Feather as a complete clone of him has.

-11.18.2024
-In a bit of a twist of events, while everyone was having fun, Blitz joked about having their nose painted, and so Itsuki painted their nose Itsuki-green. But, it turned out it was actually a catalyst for turning Blitz into Itsuki entirely (mind exempted)! And, the only way they could be turned back was with... fruit juice, with the opposite effect being that straight water would make it permanent! Ironically, Itsuki himself had nothing to do with any of this.
