

Wheatley Lesson Planning Norms for Prep Middle

Reading & Writing objective is always posted and visible for teacher reference, student reference & for visits
Agenda posted shows teacher awareness of Lesson Flow /pacing

A RAISIN IN THE SUN
Day 1
Day 2
Day 3

Your students can refer to past gist statements. Students have a running record of their gist statements to assist with multiple days of studying a text. The teacher has read the text ahead of time to know to guide students if the gist is incorrect. Gist part lasts no more than 13 minutes Teacher has scripted out the knowledge and skills (in module or on their student handout) to identify key words to frame and skills that address the standard.

OBJECTIVE: SWBAT draft a narrative with reflection by imitating author's craft.

Step 1	Read the example
Step 2	Annotate the main ideas in the example
Step 3	Think about what the author did <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• What is special about the example?</li><li>• What does the author make you feel?</li><li>• How exactly did the author accomplish</li></ul>
Step 4	Write like the example

Daily Thinking Steps are visible for students either on handout, PowerPoint references, or Anchor Chart. The teacher is aware of which step is the most relevant for that day's lesson

Examples of pre-planning for TDQ may look like any of the following (most of time it will only be 1-2 moves)

- ☐ Does a particular TDQ need to be modeled before students do the next questions? What part may they need to re-read?
- ☐ Teacher writes time stamps
- ☐ Does the teacher need to script reminders for silent, solo, tell students how much time to answer etc.?
- ☐ Teacher circles words in the question they want students to circle or identify
- ☐ Does the TDQ require a brief review of the gist statement?
- ☐ Which questions are independent, pairs or whole group?
- ☐ Which questions are important for teacher to review before ET?
- ☐ Does the class need an additional CFU question or follow up to understand the question?
- ☐ Are there specific students the teacher should circulate to during the lesson due to academic level, motivation, etc?
- ☐ Are there Tier 1/Tier 2 tracked students to circulate to during a lesson?

Exit Ticket #1 Period 1

Criteria for Success

- ☐ Starts with a claim that includes key words and introduces the line or evidence
- ☐ Includes how the word or phrase conveys the tone
- ☐ Explains how the word choice reveals positive connotation

Students are set up for success because the teacher rolls out/frames and reinforces using the CRITERIA FOR SUCCESS to answer the Exit Ticket. The CFS is aligned to the standard and the teacher has checked theirs against the module CFS. It is VISIBLE (on the student handout or PowerPoint as students work)

Exit Ticket (independent)

Criteria for Success

- ☐ Starts with a claim that includes key words and introduces the line or evidence
- ☐ Includes how the word or phrase conveys the tone
- ☐ Explains how the word choice reveals positive connotation

Teacher has internalized the Exit Ticket and has a written response. Teacher used their own exemplar to write/modify the CFS

Directions: Cite the strongest textual evidence from The Titan to support the inference that Cowperwood characterizes Chicago as a city filled with ambitious people. Explain how each piece of evidence supports the inference.

Cowperwood
Frank ~~Cowperwood~~ characterizes Chicago as a city w/
people in the Excerpts from "The Titan".

Cowperwood
he excerpts ~~describe~~ relocates to Chicago, determi to rebuild his fortune after he loses all of his money in a financial crash.

Cowperwood
In the excerpt ~~Cowperwood~~ says "it was more ye one hopeful". ~~Cowperwood~~ Cowperwood feels that th younger, so their more vibrant so he feels he will e to restart his business and have <sup>more</sup> success in this ne

He also says "The world was young here. Life was c something new." ~~also~~ usage of the phrase "doing so highlights that this new place may seem to be ative. He also refers to the city again as young ing the claim that the city is fresh and he ready to grow with it.
