Email outreach

Hello Joep,

I really liked your pinned Instagram post on Old Castle Oia because It's somewhere I would love to go and spend time there with my girlfriend.

Given the significant size of your social media audience, you have the chance to benefit from an opportunity to take your brand to new heights, which is why I am writing this email.

After a long research on the internet, I have found some interesting methods for increasing your engagements, and most of these strategies are used and proved by your competitors like Dani the explorer, laurandnicolas, lostleblanc, and many more.

I aim to develop a creative idea for providing you with Free Value, allowing me to create an email list. This list will serve as a means to send you concise copies that contain compelling instructions urging them to click a button, ultimately enhancing the value of your brand.

Meanwhile, you can focus on maintaining your well-being and relishing the experiences offered by the hotels you visit.

If you are interested in taking your brand to new heights, feel free to respond to this email or visit my portfolio to connect <https://zedusman.github.io/portfolio>, and we can arrange a convenient time for a Zoom call to discuss further.

I'll be looking forward to hearing from you
