

Client outreach

Hello, Mr. Scott,

The advice that you give in your short videos is really useful and helpful to people who don't know how to eat or train. However, this type of content that you put on social media doesn't get many views, and that's because your competitors are using more sophisticated types of editing (competitors like Bradon Carter, Greg Doucette, etc.).

Also, I have a couple of ideas for your website that could interest you.

If any of these things seem appealing to you, please email me back, and we can discuss them further