

French Narrator: Ah, ze world of dreams. A land so enriching and fascinating. These dreams give us insights into ze minds of creatures that mere words are incapable of describing. To understand ze world of dreams is to be one with the nature of zis world. So one may be compelled to ask, how did we end up here?

Patrick: Snore... MIMIMIMIMIMIMI... Snore... MIMIMIMIMIMIMIMIMI... Snore...
MIMIMIMIMIMIMIMI...

French Narrator: Patrick Star, believe it or not, is quite the fascinating creature. Some would say the inner machinations of his mind are an enigma, ha ha. I would simply call him a bit of a dunce, but zat is the beauty of dreams, is it not? So much can be interpreted. So much can be learned. So how about it, let's bear witness to the world of dreams.

...

Patrick: ...

Patrick is riding a mechanical seahorse without a care in the world.

Patrick: ...

Patrick is smiling.

French Narrator: Ze simplest pleasures are often the greatest. Treasure life's simplicity as it comes. You never know when life's simplicity will wash away into the tides of stress.

Patrick: Aw man, I'm all out of quarters.
