

The origin of Sunsetisem

Sunsetisem was created a long time ago by Ashlyn Ferhart. It is called Sunsetisem. How this religion was created is a strange tale. It all began when Ashlyn was born and her parents did not know what to name her, but they knew that they must have the first letter of her name to start with an A because they wanted her to be a leader. So they came up with Ashlyn. When Ashlyn was 2, she would talk about her past life and how she was at a place called Candy land. Ashlyn's parents would write down what she said in a notebook and they called it THE BOOK.

When Ashlyn was 3, she would not stop staring at sunsets. She was mesmerized. She always asked, "who painted the sky?". Ashlyn always drew sunsets full of colors. One day she was making art and found a bottle of glitter. Ashlyn put some on her drawing and it looked like a shimmering Hawaiian sunset. Ashlyn loved glitter. She would put it on everything. She even put it on her dresses. Ashlyn would always wear dresses that were sparkly.

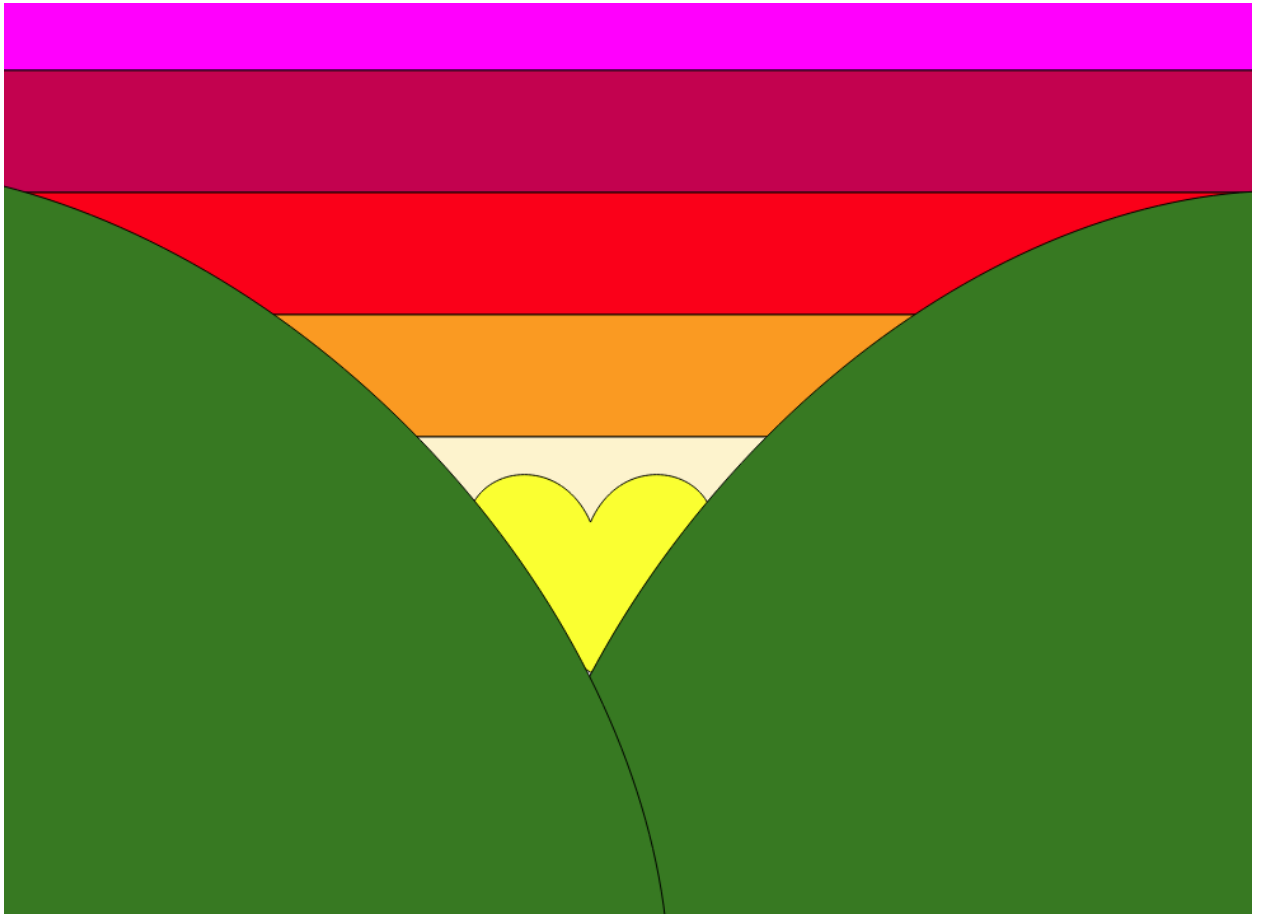

When Ashlyn was a bit older she went to Hawaii with her family. She saw the most beautiful sunsets. Ashlyn decided to travel the world to see sunsets with some friends. Everywhere Ashlyn went she drew sunsets. Sometimes she would just stare at sunsets until the stars covered the sky. Wherever Ashlyn and her friends traveled they tried new food and met new people. Ashlyn sometimes drew the food she ate and wrote stories about the people she met and added them to THE BOOK.

After a bit of time one of her friends died from falling off a cliff. They put the dead body on a bed of roses on a Mountain at sunset. The bed of roses that still had the thorns on them. The thorns were there to punish them for every bad thing they ever did and the roses were there for every good thing they did. Ashlyn believed that her friend was in CandyLand eating candy for eternity. To remember their friend each year on that day they wore purple everything because that was Ashlyn's friend's favorite color. And each year on her birthday they throw glitter on her grave.

How Sunsetisem works

Sunsetisem is practiced worldwide. Shrines, temples and churches are wherever you can see sunsets: beach, mountain top, ect. Some rituals in this religion are that every month you must try a new food cooked outside at sunset. Some major holidays in this religion are, Birth and death. How people in this religion deal with the afterlife is they believe you go to CandyLand.

For funerals you lay the dead body on a bed of roses. The thorns are there to punish them for every bad thing they ever did and the roses were there for every good thing they did. In this religion all infants' names must start with the letter A. and for peoples birthdays you throw glitter at the birthday person and wear their favorite color. Even when they die you still throw glitter on their graves. The holy book of this religion is THE BOOK. In this religion every day you must always wear something sparkly.
