Parent Newsletter, October Week 2

Dear Parents,

October Spanish is 'creeping' along in the best way possible, and your kids are loving every moment! This week, we're diving back into our spooky Halloween words like pumpkin, black cat, spider, bat, witch, and of course, Happy Halloween! And what better way to review than by playing an epic game of BINGO—or as it's known in Spanish, Lotería (Loh-teh-dee-ah)! It's a fun twist on a classic game that your kids will love!

But that's not all! If time allows, we're going to learn The Itsy, Bitsy Spider song—in Spanish! Since your kids already know the song in English, it's a breeze to swap in some fun new Spanish words. With the same tune and motions, it's easy-peasy, lemon squeezy for them to sing it in Spanish! 🎵

And keep an eye out for a fun Spanish coloring sheet coming home soon. We love bringing art into our language lessons—because learning Spanish is not just about words, it's a whole experience!

Your child is learning so much and having a blast doing it! Don't miss out on the fun—Spanish with us is an adventure every week!

Bilingual Beginnings – October Edition!

Hey Parents!

Exciting news! Our digital guide, Bilingual Beginnings: A Parent-Child Guide to Practicing Spanish at Home, is here to help you bring the Spanish we're learning at school straight into your home.

No Spanish experience? No problem! This guide makes it easy and fun. By practicing just a little Español together, your child will reinforce what they're learning in class—and you might even pick up some Spanish skills too! It's a mini Spanish fiesta for the whole family. 🎉

Ready to explore the October edition of Bilingual Beginnings? Click the link and start having fun with Spanish at home today!

Gracias for letting us bring Spanish fun to you and your niños!
