

PhD in Project Management and Planning, Minor in Ministry Management
HBI University

Course Duration: 3 years

Credit Hours: 105

Program Description

The Doctor of Philosophy (Ph.D.) in Project Management and Planning at HBIU University is designed to develop leaders and experts who can manage and plan complex projects across a variety of industries. This program provides a thorough understanding of project initiation, resource allocation, strategic planning, risk management, and project execution. By integrating both theoretical concepts and applied research, graduates will be prepared to lead large-scale projects, improve organizational performance, and drive innovation in corporate, nonprofit, and governmental sectors. The program ensures that students gain the necessary skills to contribute meaningfully to the field of project management and planning, both academically and professionally.

The Minor in Ministry Management specialization offers focused training on the integration of project management and leadership principles within faith-based and ministry organizations. This specialization covers topics such as project planning for religious organizations, managing community outreach initiatives, budgeting and financial management for ministries, and leadership in church administration. Students will develop the skills necessary to oversee faith-based projects, ensuring that organizational goals align with spiritual values and community needs, preparing them to lead ministries, religious nonprofits, and faith-driven social projects.
