Celia Imrey

Working mostly with museums and other public institutions, Celia Imrey has been the principal and director of her own design practices for 22 years. After earning her Master of Architecture from Yale, her professional formation was in working for I. M. Pei Architect, William McDonough & Partners, Pei Cobb Freed & Partners, and with Vito Acconci. In 2013, Celia founded Yale Women in Architecture, an inclusive alumni group. She has helped to organize over 30 events that support the diversity, equality and inclusion of all our members and affiliates. Celia also founded Space Kit LLC, a company that delivers high-level project planning to private clients and their teams in an easy-to-use format.

Firm Description
