What is cookie?

A cookie is a small text file that is downloaded onto your ‘terminal equipment’ (e.g. a computer or smartphone) when you access our Website. It allows us to recognise your device and store some information about your preferences or past actions.

Cookies are downloaded by your internet browser the first time you visit the site. The next time you visit the site from the same device, the cookie and the information stored in it is either sent back to the site that generated it (first-party cookie) or to a different website to which it belongs (third-party cookie).

There are two main kinds of cookies: session cookies and persistent cookies. Session cookies are erased when you close your browser or mobile application. Persistent cookies remain on your device for a predefined period.

We use «session cookies», «persistent cookies» and other similar technologies (‘cookies’).

Why do we use cookies?

Strictly Necessary cookies:

To enable the work of the Website and provide users with a usable interface (on the grounds of necessity to provide you with our services). The Website cannot function properly without these cookies. These cookies do not store any personally identifiable information.

Other types of cookies Cookies:

- To analyse statistics of the use of the Website (aggregate data without personal identification of the device) and conduct our marketing research (Google Analytics).

These cookies allow us to understand how visitors interact with our Website and to improve the performance of our Website;

- To personalise the content of the Website;
- To serve you with personalised advertisements;

Please note, that we will store the information about cookies for up to 12 months after your last visit to our Website. Certain cookies may have their own automatically determined storage periods, which we cannot control. To get more information about retention periods, you can scan the website using cookie scanner services, such as <https://cookiepedia.co.uk/>.

Managing Cookies

We can place cookies on your device by default if they are strictly necessary for the operation of this Website. For all other types of cookies, we need your consent.

Unless you choose otherwise, we can store and process only those cookies that are necessary for the operation of our Website. If you don't want to be tracked by other types of cookies, you can refuse to give your initial consent or opt out later.

You can check the specific types of cookies in the pop-up window shown during your first visit on the Website. By clicking "Allow all cookies", you agree with the use of cookies for all purposes mentioned above.

Declining other types of cookies will affect your experience on our Website since there will be no personalisation and recognition of devices during the subsequent uses of the Website.

You can change or withdraw your consent at any time as easily as you have provided it to us by clicking "change your consent" at cookie declaration on our Website or by contacting us at our contact e-mail address. Also, your web browser allows you to control and limit cookies on the device.

Please keep in mind that simply disabling all cookies or all of our cookies in your browser settings may lead to certain sections or features of our Website not working. Therefore, we recommend using the Cookie Settings on our website instead of disabling all cookies in your web browser.
