I. Foreword

I recommend going to "View" and setting "Text Width" to "Full".

Before you read this, the first thing I'd like to say is that I speak for myself and myself alone. This statement is my own, in my own defense, in my own words, and for myself only. It should not be used to judge others who were dragged into this situation or who have also been defamed for the apparently unforgivable crime of blocking or breaking mutuals with Ren/Byletri/Persephius.

For the unaware, I'm Mila aka deathflare on ao3, @deathflares on twitter, @deathflare on bsky. I am a fic writer, a Brazilian queer woman of color, and someone who, through most of 2020 through April 2023, when she passed, had a mother who had been in treatment for cancer. Notably, she had been in the ICU for weeks during the time most of the things that are described in this doc happened. Caring for her was nearly my 24/7 job at the time.

As a brief summary: following a series of incidents that happened while I was on a nearly 3 month long complete hiatus during August 2022, I broke mutuals and blocked Ren on twitter for my own peace of mind in February 2023. Ever since then, he became convinced I was relentlessly spreading rumors about him to others in order to convince people to block him, and not only block evaded me by badgering a common mutual to DM me for him at the time, a time my terminally ill mother was still in the ICU, but has also continuously and knowingly lied about me in public to his thousands of followers in the years following.

This document is my personal testimony and compilation of evidence regarding the above. It is not exhaustive, as I've had to type this in a single day since he decided to make everything public by directly posting about me and a few of my friends.

II. Background

Sorry, this will be long. But if you want to know the context behind the entire thing, I recommend you don't skip this part.

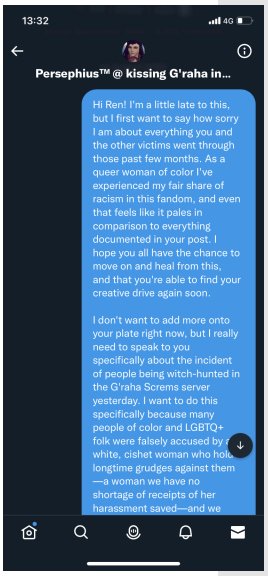

In August of 2022, I was one of the victims of a witch hunt spurred by Grace / Khione North aka @magpiebrain, which I will not hesitate to name—fuck you, by the way—in which she hijacked a conversation about racism and homophobia in the FFXIV fandom, started by Ren, to enact a personal vendetta against people she had abused in the past.

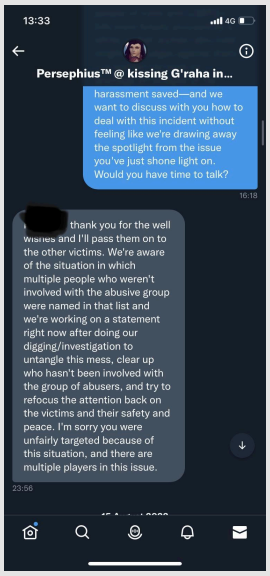

She created a list of people that she claimed were "in cahoots" with Zimpo, who was the subject of Ren's callout post. This list was in its near entirety composed of people of color and LGBTQAI+ folk, all people she had personally abused or otherwise had grudges against for what were at the time nearly three year old incidents, and all of which have had her blocked in every platform since then.

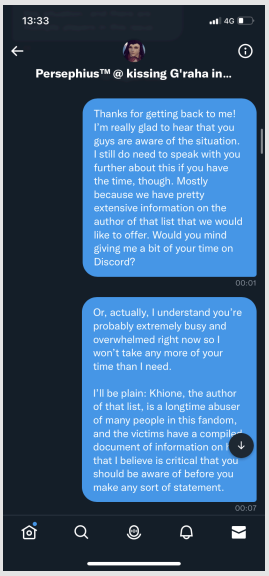

This list was posted, pinned by a moderator of the 400+ member server, and the people in it were defamed and encouraged to be unfollowed, blocked, and have their names spread to others as dangerous people to interact with. In fact, if you'd like to know exactly how it happened, here's a backup of the specific channel it happened on that server. You can extract this and click on the .html file to read the entire log and see exactly how it went down. For reference, the creator of the list is "High-Strung Historian".

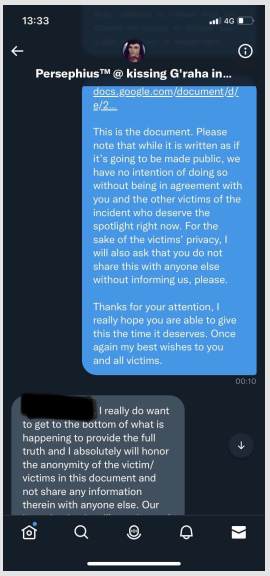

Needless to say, the accusations were lies. At that point in time, I had been on a two month long hiatus, one I was taking to care for my mother, in which I hadn't tweeted or logged into FFXIV at all. I had no involvement in what happened, and was forced to return to defend myself against those accusations. My thread about it is still up on twitter, or you can read it here if you don't have an account.

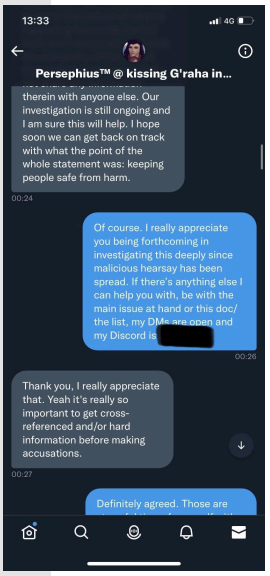

Eventually, I DM'd Ren directly about it, linking to a nearly 80 page long doc with screenshots and multiple testimonies of people who had been abused by the author of that list. I have no qualms about sharing our full DM history, so you can go ahead and read it below, or click here to see it as an album:

Hi Ren! I'm a little late to this, but I first want to say how sorry I am about everything you and the other victims went through those past few months. As a queer woman of color I've experienced my fair share of racism in this fandom, and even that feels like it pales in comparison to everything documented in your post. I hope you all have the chance to move on and heal from this, and that you're able to find your creative drive again soon.
I don't want to add more onto your plate right now, but I really need to speak to you specifically about the incident of people being witch-hunted in the G'raha Screms server yesterday. I want to do this specifically because many people of color and LGBTQ+ folk were falsely accused by a white, cishet woman who holds longtime grudges against them —a woman we have no shortage of receipts of her harassment saved—and we harassment saved—and we want to discuss with you how to deal with this incident without feeling like we're drawing away the spotlight from the issue you've just shone light on. Would you have time to talk?

Persephius™ @ kissing G'raha in...
16:18
[redacted] thank you for the well wishes and I'll pass them on to the other victims. We're aware of the situation in which multiple people who weren't involved with the abusive group were named in that list and we're working on a statement right now after doing our digging/investigation to untangle this mess, clear up who hasn't been involved with the group of abusers, and try to refocus the attention back on the victims and their safety and peace. I'm sorry you were unfairly targeted because of this situation, and there are multiple players in this issue.
23:56

Persephius™ @ kissing G'raha in...
Thanks for getting back to me! I'm really glad to hear that you guys are aware of the situation. I still do need to speak with you further about this if you have the time, though. Mostly because we have pretty extensive information on the author of that list that we would like to offer. Would you mind giving me a bit of your time on Discord?
00:01
Or, actually, I understand you're probably extremely busy and overwhelmed right now so I won't take any more of your time than I need.
I'll be plain: Khione, the author of that list, is a longtime abuser of many people in this fandom, and the victims have a compile document of information on that I believe is critical that you should be aware of before you make any sort of statement.

This is the document. Please note that while it is written as if it's going to be made public, we have no intention of doing so without being in agreement with you and the other victims of the incident who deserve the spotlight right now. For the sake of the victims' privacy, I will also ask that you do not share this with anyone else without informing us, please.
Thanks for your attention, I really hope you are able to give this the time it deserves. Once again my best wishes to you and all victims.
[redacted] I really do want to get to the bottom of what is happening to provide the full truth and I absolutely will honor the anonymity of the victim/victims in this document and not share any information therein with anyone else. Our therein with anyone else. Our investigation is still ongoing and I am sure this will help. I hope soon we can get back on track with what the point of the whole statement was: keeping people safe from harm.

00:24
Of course. I really appreciate you being forthcoming in investigating this deeply since malicious hearsay has been spread. If there's anything else I can help you with, be with the main issue at hand or this doc/ the list, my DMs are open and my Discord is [redacted]
00:26
Thank you, I really appreciate that. Yeah it's really so important to get cross-referenced and/or hard information before making accusations.
00:27
Definitely agreed. Those are 13:33

Persephius™ @ kissing G'raha in...
Definitely agreed. Those are stressful times for myself with having had to break the hiatus I'm taking due to my mother's illness, but I really couldn't leave the situation untouched especially in face of the trauma it resurfaced in many of my friends
00:29
I will be heading to bed now since it's pretty late where I live —I'm [redacted] which I thiiink is your timezone? But feel free to reach out to me whenever and I'll respond when I can. If possible, I would appreciate if you can give me a heads up once you're done reading the document.
Otherwise, I'm logging off for the night! I'm glad I was able to contact you. Have a good evening and please take care of yourself ❤️

Persephius™ @ kissing G'raha in...
You as well, and I hope the situation resolves quickly so you can get back to your family and decompress from all of this. I'm sorry you had to scramble back to take care of this when there are important things going on in your life. Please do rest well! Just in the interest of honesty, I'll try to get back to you as soon as I can but my plate is exceedingly full at the moment as one person coordinating with multiple groups and many individuals so it may take a hot minute.
❤️ 1
Please take as long as you need. The last thing I want is to add more stress on your plate. Take care of yourself and deal with this when you have the time!
00:34
Hey Mila. I read over the 13:33

Persephius™ @ kissing G'raha in...
[redacted] I read over the entirety of the document and absolutely agree that Khione/Grace/Blue has twisted this situation to her own personal vendetta, and I'm incredibly sorry to those not involved that she's used this situation as a means to weaponize the fear of others towards her victims, however several people on her list other than Zimpo and Zemiki are in fact active participators in the abuse of the collective victims that came forward and I ask that you please recognize that and not allow them to rally the anger of the truly innocent to their own ends to clear their own names by association. Though they were victimized by Grace and that's inexcusable, they also abused a list of others themselves and similarly need to be held accountable for their own actions.
21:00
Also, if it's possible for you to 13:33

Persephius™ @ kissing G'raha in...
own actions.
21:00
Also, if it's possible for you to keep this information between us until our statement can be written, it would be very helpful. We're still in the process of gathering information and should be done soon.
21:03
I see. First of all, thank you for taking the time to read the document. I am admittedly not in close terms with many of the people in that list, so I can't speak for them all and will recognize that. I did not keep tabs on who was part of Zimpo's group and my close circle of fandom friends is very small. Are you willing to tell me who exactly is both a victim of Khione and a perpetrator of abuse done by Zimpo's group?
21:04
Can you promise to keep this 13:33

Persephius™ @ kissing G'raha in...
21:04
Can you promise to keep this information between only you and me for the time being? I also have not shared the document with anyone else and ask that you give the same consideration to us until we as a collective are able to put out our statement and the statements of the victims summarizing what happened to them and how their abusers manipulated and abused them.
21:05
And yes, I'm perfectly fine with keeping this information between us. I would appreciate, however, if I had the chance to read that statement before it was made public? Or at least any parts that refer to myself. This situation has been a great source of anxiety for me and frankly the suspense of seeing your recent tweet drop like that didn't make me feel very safe
And yes, I can definitely

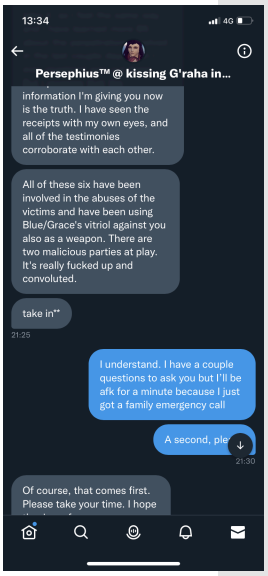

13:33
Persephius™ @ kissing G'raha in...
And yes, I can definitely promise that.
21:06
I must also ask--do you intend to speak about Khione and her actions in this statement? It is the desire of many of her victims for her actions to be finally made public
21:07
Absolutely, you can read the statement before it goes out, yes. It will actually not include any names and people will still be anonymous for the victims most especially to protect them, but also it will not specify who the rest of the true perpetrators of the abuse are. We will address the list and the true intentions on why the list was made by Khione/Blue/ Grace but will not mention her by name as we're not mentioning the other perpetrators either. This is for a couple reasons, as many 13:33

Persephius™ @ kissing G'raha in...
creator of the list is because of the many tweets about her thus far, and we've already been accused of causing a witch hunt and that is not our intention. However, we are using this as a very, very measured approach to send a message to every single one of the abusers that we will be releasing the list of abusers publicly should they continue to weaponize this pain and situation, should they continue to stalk, defame, abuse, and keep tabs on any of the parties in question or new victims, or should they continue to drag other unrelated people into this situation and weaponize their anger for their own ends. Yes, Khione is weaponizing this situation to her own ends to try to retaliate against her victims in the past, but there are several among this list of her past victims that are also using this situation to manipulate the anger of the innocent who were named to clear their own reputations by association. All

Persephius™ @ kissing G'raha in...
reputations by association. All who were responsible for abuse here need to be held accountable for their actions, and if we send out that warning first, it will be clear from our end that we're trying to shift the attention back to where it belongs: the victims of the group that Zimpo was in, and should the weaponization of anonymity continue to be used as a weapon for the abusers' ends, for the safety of the community we will have no choice but to release the full list.
21:14
The people involved are Aulani, Alex, Charmi, Zimpo, Zemiki, and Phy. They have all been active contributors of the abuse of the collective of victims that have come forward, additionally all of their stories corroborate with each other (and some of them don't know each other and their abuse occurred during a different time period that they wouldn't have been associated,

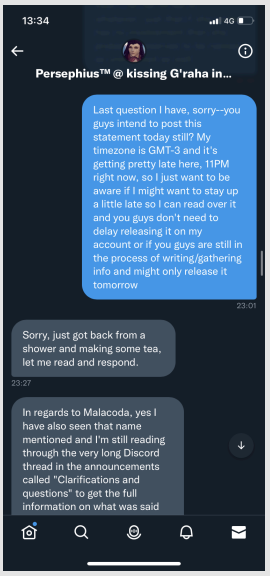

13:34
Persephius™ @ kissing G'raha in... or they did know each other and have a bad history with one another but the details of their testimonies still corroborate with each other) and on details I did and did not share in the Twitlonger that I simply just did not have hard evidence for so I didn't speak on without proof, but knew about.
21:17
I see. This is a lot to take in right, so please bear with me if my responses and questions about this are slow.
right now*
21:20
Of course.
The only names we plan on actually speaking on in the statement will be the names of the people uninvolved with this group and their abuse to clear their names as uninvolved, which are [redacted]

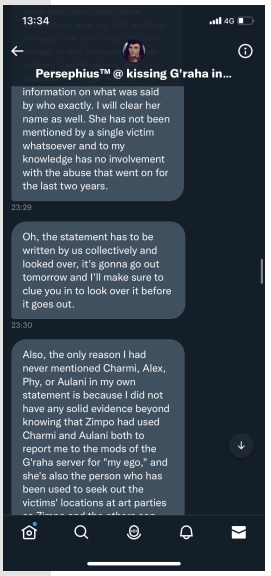

13:34
Persephius™ @ kissing G'raha in...
[redacted]
(which she was just mentioned in the conversation but not a part of the list but I absolutely understand how this could be alarming nonetheless so we will mention her as well).
21:21
These last couple days I have been reading over an incredible amount of information about this entire situation from direct sources as well as having direct access to some of the conversations involved, on top of verifying the testimonies of the victims both with each other and the receipts that they had to bring to the table that were publicly accessible for me to look up. I completely understand that it's a lot to take it, as I feel the same way and I have learned more BS about the perpetrators involved in the last couple days than I ever imagined was out there. But I promise that the information I'm giving you now is the truth. I have seen the 13:34

Persephius™ @ kissing G'raha in... information I'm giving you now is the truth. I have seen the receipts with my own eyes, and all of the testimonies corroborate with each other.
All of these six have been involved in the abuses of the victims and have been using Blue/Grace's vitriol against you also as a weapon. There are two malicious parties at play. It's really fucked up and convoluted.
take in 21:25
I understand. I have a couple questions to ask you but I'll be afk for a minute because I just got a family emergency call
A second, ple
21:30
Of course, that comes first. Please take your time. I hope

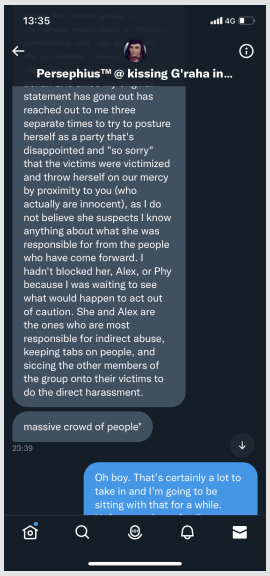

13:34
Persephius™ @ kissing G'raha in...
Okay. Sorry for the late response.
I appreciate you sharing all this information with me and appreciate the fact you all intend to mention those who are definitely uninvolved by name.
22:17
I'm personally the most shocked to hear about Aulani. I was vaguely aware of her involvement with Zimpo but I never thought, and still have a hard time believing—not out of distrust of you or the other victims, but just out of personal shock because I never believed her to be that sort of person—had involvement in this. This is really a lot to take in and very overwhelming.
I'm definitely going to be very sparse here other than retweeting the statement you guys plan on putting out when

Persephius™ @ kissing G'raha in...
I'm definitely going to be very sparse here other than retweeting the statement you guys plan on putting out when it's out. I appreciate you letting me read it before it goes out, so thank you for that 22:34
There's just one thing I want to add--I think Malacoda was mentioned by Khione as well, much like Lady J in that she was dropped in the conversation but wasn't put on the list? And while I haven't been in contact with her for a long time now I don't believe she has any involvement with Zimpo's crew
22:38
I'm not aware if she has done anything else to other people or to Khione herself so this isn't a vouch for her virtue or whatever--just that if she really has no involvement then she probably deserves to be named as uninvolved as well

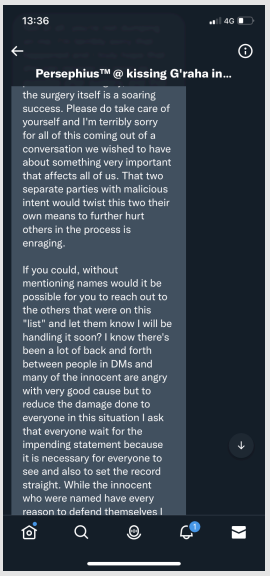

13:34
Persephius™ @ kissing G'raha in...
Last question I have, sorry--you guys intend to post this statement today still? My timezone is GMT-3 and it's getting pretty late here, 11PM right now, so I just want to be aware if I might want to stay up a little late so I can read over it and you guys don't need to delay releasing it on my account or if you guys are still in the process of writing/gathering info and might only release it tomorrow
23:01
Sorry, just got back from a shower and making some tea, let me read and respond.
23:27
In regards to Malacoda, yes I have also seen that name mentioned and I'm still reading through the very long Discord thread in the announcements called "Clarifications and questions" to get the full information on what was said

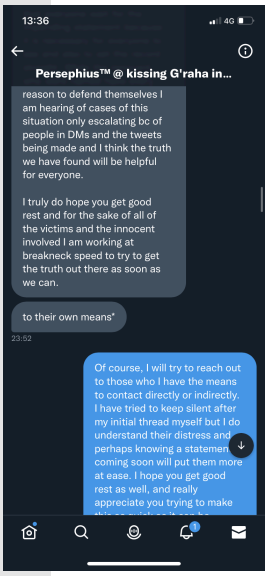

13:34
Persephius™ @ kissing G'raha in... information on what was said by who exactly. I will clear her name as well. She has not been mentioned by a single victim whatsoever and to my knowledge has no involvement with the abuse that went on for the last two years.
23:29
Oh, the statement has to be written by us collectively and looked over, it's gonna go out tomorrow and I'll make sure to clue you in to look over it before it goes out.
23:30
Also, the only reason I had never mentioned Charmi, Alex, Phy, or Aulani in my own statement is because I did not have any solid evidence beyond knowing that Zimpo had used Charmi and Aulani both to report me to the mods of the G'raha server for "my ego," and she's also the person who has been used to seek out the victims' locations at art parties

Persephius™ @ kissing G'raha in...
victims' locations at art parties so Zimpo and the others can stalk and intimidate them (she did such with me at the Sepia Art Party as well, where I received a DM from her when Zimpo was elsewhere in the crowd of massive people and immediately afterwards my entire group of friends saw her and co. come towards us and inch closer the entire night while targeting me and my friends); however, with all of the victims corroborating stories there is excessive evidence against all of them to prove their involvement in this culture of abuse in their group. Aulani is one of the ones that doesn't do a ton of the direct bullying herself but she uses her "sweetness" to elicit trust from people, but only ever seems to reach out to people when the whole group is somehow implicated or there's something she can gain from the proximity. I know she reached out on your and Naut's behalf and since my original statement has gone out has

Persephius™ @ kissing G'raha in... statement has gone out has reached out to me three separate times to try to posture herself as a party that's disappointed and "so sorry" that the victims were victimized and throw herself on our mercy by proximity to you (who actually are innocent), as I do not believe she suspects I know anything about what she was responsible for from the people who have come forward. I hadn't blocked her, Alex, or Phy because I was waiting to see what would happen to act out of caution. She and Alex are the ones who are most responsible for indirect abuse, keeping tabs on people, and siccing the other members of the group onto their victims to do the direct harassment.
massive crowd of people"
23:39
Oh boy. That's certainly a lot to take in and I'm going to be sitting with that for a while.

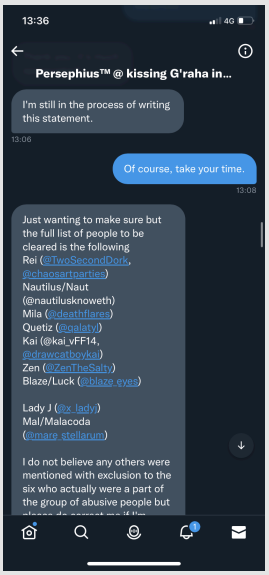

13:35
Persephius™ @ kissing G'raha in...
Unfortunately my family emergency from early turned out to be my grandmother suffering a fall that broke her hip and requires surgery (apologies for the real life dump, just want to contextualize) so I am admittedly very... wishing to take my hands and mind off of this.
Thank you for letting me know about the statement—since it will only be going out tomorrow I'll be going ahead and heading to bed for now since I could really use a rest. I hope you have the chance to rest as well Ren, since this surely has been extremely emotionally and physically taxing on you. Have a good night. ❤️
23:44
Not at all, you're not dumping on me. I'm terribly sorry that happened and I truly hope that she can recover as soon as possible after surgery, and that the surgery itself is a soaring

13:36
Persephius™ @ kissing G'raha in...
the surgery itself is a soaring success. Please do take care of yourself and I'm terribly sorry for all of this coming out of a conversation we wished to have about something very important that affects all of us. That two separate parties with malicious intent would twist this two their own means to further hurt others in the process is enraging.
If you could, without mentioning names would it be possible for you to reach out to the others that were on this "list" and let them know I will be handling it soon? I know there's been a lot of back and forth between people in DMs and many of the innocent are angry with very good cause but to reduce the damage done to everyone in this situation I ask that everyone wait for the impending statement because it is necessary for everyone to see and also to set the record straight. While the innocent who were named have every reason to defend themselves I

Persephius™ @ kissing G'raha in...
reason to defend themselves I am hearing of cases of this situation only escalating bc of people in DMs and the tweets being made and I think the truth we have found will be helpful for everyone.
I truly do hope you get good rest and for the sake of all of the victims and the innocent involved I am working at breakneck speed to try to get the truth out there as soon as we can.
to their own means"
23:52
Of course, I will try to reach out to those who I have the means to contact directly or indirectly. I have tried to keep silent after my initial thread myself but I do understand their distress and perhaps knowing a statement coming soon will put them more at ease. I hope you get good rest as well, and really appreciate you trying to make

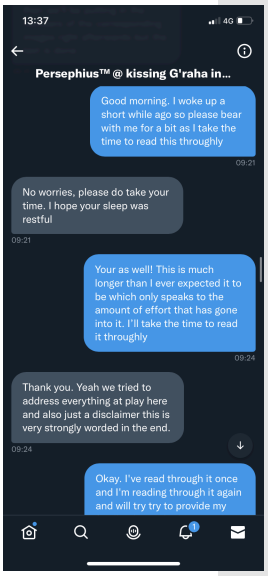

13:36
Persephius™ @ kissing G'raha in...
appreciate you trying to make this as quick as it can be.
23:54
Likewise to you, and do feel free to share my tweet if you wish or need to. But absolutely your loved ones come first and please do take care of your mental and physical health in the meantime. I'll reach out again once the statement is ready for you to read and truly appreciate your help, confidence, and assistance.

Yes, I do believe that list is right. I don't think anyone else was mentioned or included other than the other six
Okay, thank you so much.
13:24
Just wanted to clue you in that I've been running on about 24 hours without sleep and my migraine is so bad right now I can't continue to type. The statement should be out by tomorrow but I think I need to rest.

Good morning. I woke up a short while ago so please bear with me for a bit as I take the time to read this throughly
No worries, please do take your time. I hope your sleep was restful
09:21
Your as well! This is much longer than I ever expected it to be which only speaks to the amount of effort that has gone into it. I'll take the time to read it throughly
09:24
Thank you. Yeah we tried to address everything at play here and also just a disclaimer this is very strongly worded in the end.
09:24
Okay. I've read through it once and I'm reading through it again and will try try to provide my

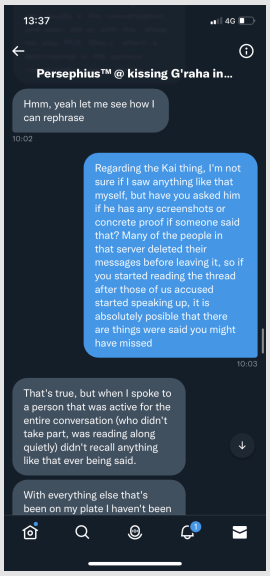

13:37
Persephius™ @ kissing G'raha in...
and will try try to provide my feedback as I do this reread to the best of my ability.
09:51
Sure thing, please do feel free to call anything that might be confusing as without being able to name names, we have to use a lot of other terms that are hard to follow sometimes 09:52
I think the first thing I want to address--though it may come accross or perhaps be nitpicking, but I've come to learn the value of wording things in specific ways--the specific manner those of us whose names are being cleared are being referred to.

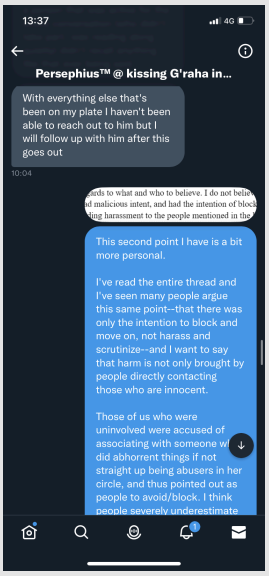

13:37
Persephius™ @ kissing G'raha in... specific manner those of us whose names are being cleared are being referred to.
I understand you guys likely intend to future proof this statement by not declaring the parties as simply "innocent" since evidence in the future may come out that contradicts that, but I feel like the current wording in the document carries a slight tone of "there is suspicion of their involvement, just not proof", when to my knowledge there is neither.
I'm thinking of how I would reword it myself without absolving people of any future evidence that may come out. It's a very minor change, but perhaps simply emphasizing the "uninvolvement" rather than the "at this time" would work better? Something like, "One of our goals today is to clear th names of those who "are uninvolved" with the core abusive group that my abusers were a part of, as there is no

Persephius™ @ kissing G'raha in...
were a part of, as there is no evidence that exists at this time of their involvement in any way."
Feel free to reword it yourself and my apologies for nitpicking, but personal experience has taught me how prone people can be to speculate on wording, and I frankly just want to be left and protect myself from anything that could cause people to continue to scrutinize my public (which will continue to be public because I have nothing to hide even if they do) twitter profile.
left alone"
09:54
Sure thing, someone brought this up too, does the phrasing "We have no reason to believe that they were involved at this time" work?
09:55

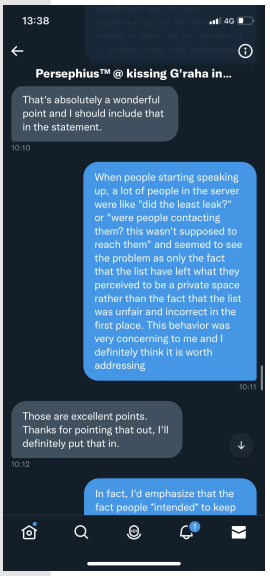

13:37
Persephius™ @ kissing G'raha in...
09:58
I do feel that rewording carries much the same issues as the original one unfortunately, but it is a little better. I don't have any other suggestions other than my own initial one myself so if you want to keep it that way, that's alright. Again, it is nitpicking on my part lmao
09:59
Hmm, let me think on how we can meet a middle ground here without absolving people of future issues

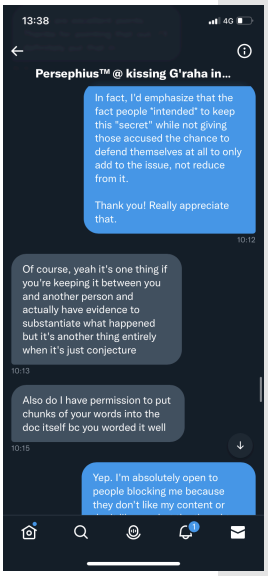

13:37
Persephius™ @ kissing G'raha in...
I just don't want that to fall back on me or the victims if at some point one of them does something really stupid or starts associating heavily with these people
One person I'm particularly worried about is how Kai straight up lied about someone saying he was "not Asian enough" in the discussion as never was that ever said anywhere
10:01
Perhaps emphasizing they're uninvolved with "this" incident specifically?
10:01
And he's been centering himself very loudly in the conversation and even did so with the "show me your POC WoLs" which is detrimental to the serious conversation we're having

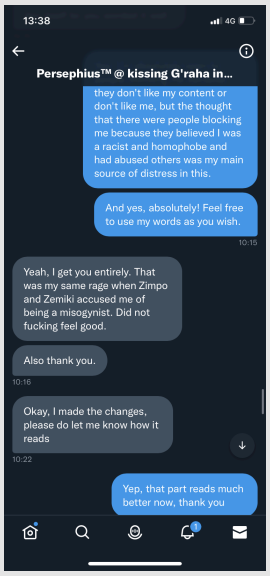

13:37
Persephius™ @ kissing G'raha in...
Hmm, yeah let me see how I can rephrase
10:02
Regarding the Kai thing, I'm not sure if I saw anything like that myself, but have you asked him if he has any screenshots or concrete proof if someone said that? Many of the people in that server deleted their messages before leaving it, so if you started reading the thread after those of us accused started speaking up, it is absolutely posible that there are things were said you might have missed
10:03
That's true, but when I spoke to a person that was active for the entire conversation (who didn't take part, was reading along quietly) didn't recall anything like that ever being said.

With everything else that's been on my plate I haven't been able to reach out to him but I will follow up with him after this goes out 10:04
This second point I have is a bit more personal.
I've read the entire thread and I've seen many people argue this same point--that there was only the intention to block and move on, not harass and scrutinize--and I want to say that harm is not only brought by people directly contacting those who are innocent.
Those of us who were uninvolved were accused of people tell their friends about

Persephius™ @ kissing G'raha in... people severely underestimate the effect of word of mouth--one person calls me a racist homophobe with no evidence, gets two dozen people to block me on that regard despite having no evidence (I say two dozen because that's the exact amount of followers I had lost by the time I spoke up for myself), those two dozen people tell their friends about it, who tell their friends about, and then, despite every conversation having happened in "private" (which a server of 400 people never was, something the people involved seem to fail to understand), I am blocked by a significant portion of my own fandom based on lies and slander.
While it is not my case, some of us do make our livelihood on twitter through commissions, patreon, etc; so to lose a significant part of your audience due to lies like this is cause of harm not to mention it is simply unfair and distressing.

Persephius™ @ kissing G'raha in...
That's absolutely a wonderful point and I should include that in the statement.
10:10
When people starting speaking up, a lot of people in the server were like "did the least leak?" or "were people contacting them? this wasn't supposed to reach them" and seemed to see the problem as only the fact that the list have left what they perceived to be a private space rather than the fact that the list was unfair and incorrect in the first place. This behavior was very concerning to me and I definitely think it is worth addressing 10:11
Those are excellent points. Thanks for pointing that out, I'll definitely put that in.

In fact, I'd emphasize that the fact people "intended" to keep this "secret" while not giving those accused the chance to defend themselves at all to only add to the issue, not reduce from it.
Thank you! Really appreciate that.
10:12
Of course, yeah it's one thing if you're keeping it between you and another person and actually have evidence to substantiate what happened but it's another thing entirely when it's just conjecture
10:13
Also do I have permission to put chunks of your words into the doc itself bc you worded it well 10:15
Yep. I'm absolutely open to people blocking me because they don't like my content or

13:38
Persephius™ @ kissing G'raha in... they don't like my content or don't like me, but the thought that there were people blocking me because they believed I was a racist and homophobe and had abused others was my main source of distress in this.
And yes, absolutely! Feel free to use my words as you wish.
10:15
Yeah, I get you entirely. That was my same rage when Zimpo and Zemiki accused me of being a misogynist. Did not fucking feel good.
Also thank you.

should i say a range of people across the community
11:04
Specifically the part about dishonesty I what I feel invites scrutiny into those of us who only spoke about what we had actually seen and had concrete proof of. Kai having trying to invoke sympathy by lying should not fall on us
I think that might be better, yes, since at least it doesn't reduce the range of people to those

13:38
Persephius™ @ kissing G'raha in...
For sure
I wasn't just talking about Kai there I've seen people that have no access to the server lie about what was on it
Like not people implicated
11:05
Ah, I see. Better than to say a range of people across the community then, since it's not just The Listed:tm:
I know someone in particular who has been incessantly yapping about the situation despite being uninvolved and despite being white and it has been a source of frustration for me as well lol
So many people have weaponized this as drama for their own ends like

Though my name was eventually “cleared”, I cannot deny I found myself dissatisfied with the lack of naming of the perpetrator, as well as how those of us who were wrongfully accused were frequently told to stay silent, “stop centering ourselves”, and be grateful we even had our names oh so charitably cleared at all.

I did not voice such concerns back then other than in private conversations with a couple of very intimate friends, because I was exhausted, emotionally worn out, and frankly, terrified. I didn’t feel like I could speak freely because I was afraid that anything that came across as a “demand”, “centering myself”, or anything of the sort would earn me more hostility and scrutiny. I had to take a new doc that was mostly about Ren's own feelings and how much “having to do that” harmed his health, despite the fact that I could have just dropped the doc myself, as at the time I had permission from all people involved (I no longer do, as I have no contact with essentially all of the involved), nor did he have to spend any time hunting for the evidence because I had offered it to him—and still, I had better be grateful he had done anything at all.

That day, people had been searching through my tweets for any evidence that I was in fact guilty, scrutinizing my every mutual and every interaction, and being far more concerned with either proving that their witch hunt was justified because I was in fact a horrible person, or with absolving themselves of any guilt for their participation in it by DMing me for personal forgiveness and/or making public tweets about how “the situation got out of hand but people had good intentions”. That there was never to be any harm done because it was “just” a DNI list and not an encouragement to harassment, as if defaming someone’s reputation in a space they could not see or defend themselves, to an audience of hundreds of people, was a well-intentioned action.

I am not new to fandom spaces, as someone who has been involved in them for more than a decade now. I’ve experienced harassment, I’ve had private conversations leaked by people with personal vendettas against me, all before I ever started interacting with XIV twitter. Still, the scale of this situation, the fact I had not even been online for two months before it happened, the way it was resolved, as well as the point in my life where it happened left me with a few scars. It was not an incident I wanted to be reminded of, and I still want nothing more than to leave it the past forever, even if the hurt still remains in the back of my mind.

III. The actual blocking

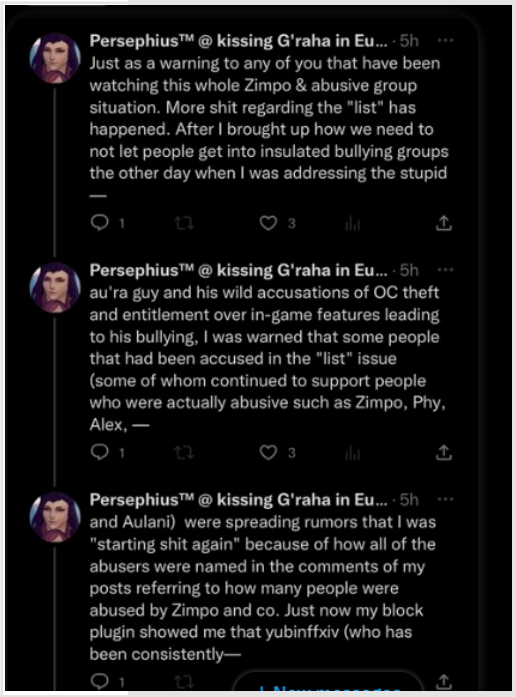

In February 2023, after a long time of pondering it, I decided to block Ren. My main reason behind doing this was that I no longer wanted to see anything about that 2022 incident that wasn't on my own terms (i.e. me bringing it up myself if I felt like it), and the fact I already pretty much kept mutuals with Ren only out of fear of retaliation if I were to break it, because I was not and had never been close to him.

Eventually I decided to bite the bullet and just do it, because my mental health was already at the lowest it had ever been—my mother was terminal and she would die less than 2 months after this, on April 1st—and I didn't need an online fandom space to further worsen it. I had hoped I was wrong about him and Ren wouldn't take a single block so utterly personally.

I was dreadfully wrong.

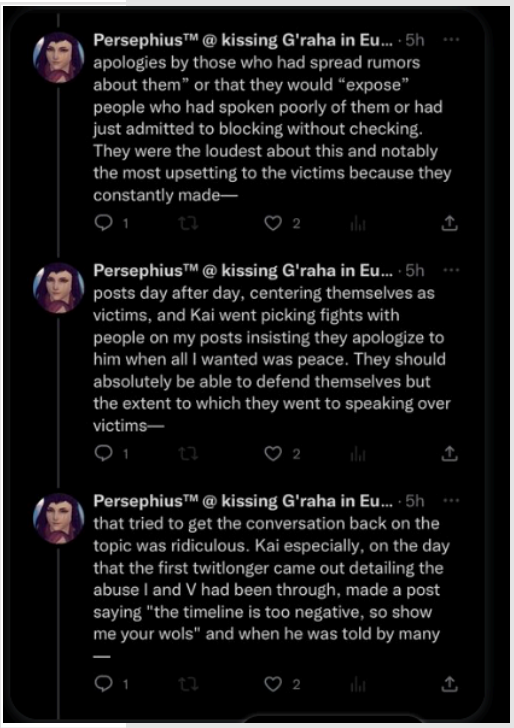

Following this single criminal act of blocking him, Ren proceeded to post extremely long-winded threads about how I, among others, were "clearly spreading rumors about him", telling others to block him, saying he was “starting shit again”, among others. [You’re welcome to read it for yourself:]

First, I want to address all the claims Ren made about me, specifically, in these tweets.

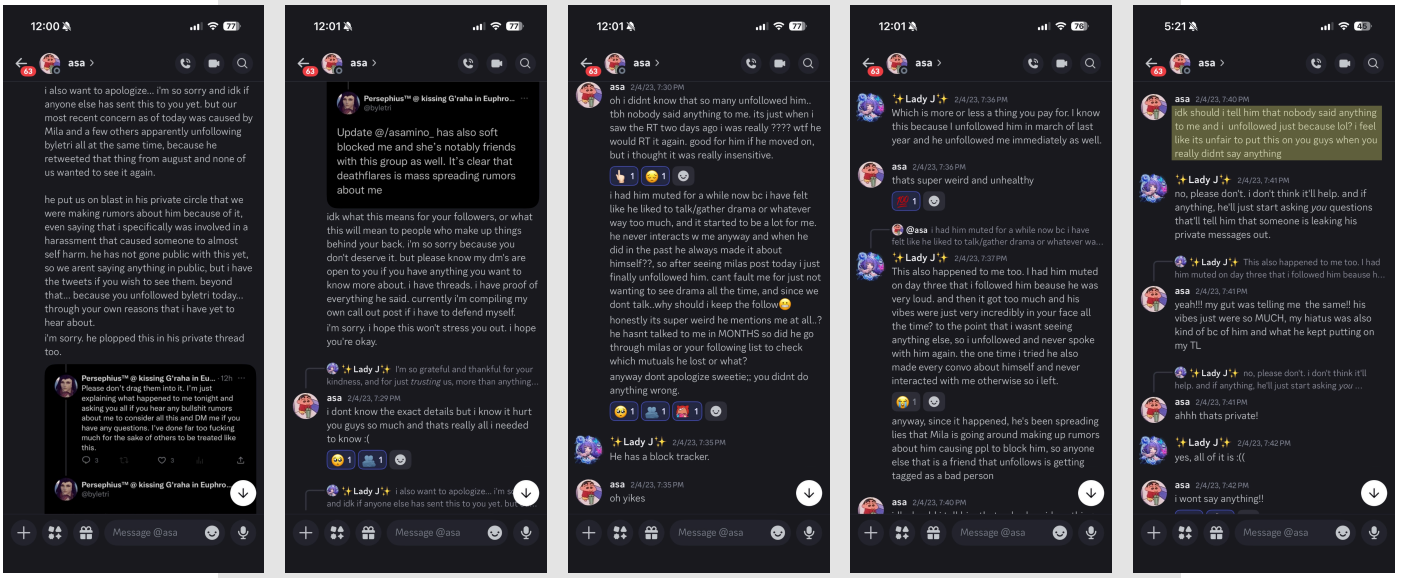

- He claims I continued to follow three people who were active participants in the abuse he described in his original post. While now, near four years later, I barely even remember if that was still true at that point—nor do I find it reasonable to take "didn't break the mutual immediately" as endorsement of a person's actions, especially in a fandom like XIV, where people take unfollowing/blocking very personally and often retaliate in response, as Ren aptly demonstrates—I haven't spoken to any of the people mentioned in years.

- He says “deathflare showed clear signs of not wanting to believe Aulani was responsible for the abuse of some of the victims”. That is an intentional, bad faith distortion of what I actually said, which I had no problem displaying above and will show here again.

- He claims he “cleared our names” at my request. I never needed him to so charitably do so, as I had an 80 page long doc ready to go on the perpetrator of the lies. We could, at any moment, just have dropped that doc and let her burn. I contacted Ren first out of respect and because I wanted to avoid the capital crime of “centering ourselves”—god forbid we speak about our own abuse—and it was his choice to not make that document public, since, again, the people whose testimonies were included in it at the time were willing to have it made public.

    - He claims multiple times that I’m “spreading malicious rumors about him”, with zero evidence, because he cannot fathom that I would want to block him for no other reason than being constantly reminded of a source of trauma while my mother was dying was having a detrimental effect on my health, or that other people would want to block him simply due to the fact they find him a deeply unlikeable person. In the last tweet, he specifically mentions asamino as evidence that “deathflares is clearly spreading rumors about me”—a tweet he made as I was literally writing my reply to the person he badgered into block evading, again, while my mother was in the fucking ICU. This particular instance is so blatantly and easily proven untrue by the fact another of the people he slanders in that thread, Lady J, directly DM’d asamino to talk about this, which you can see for yourself:

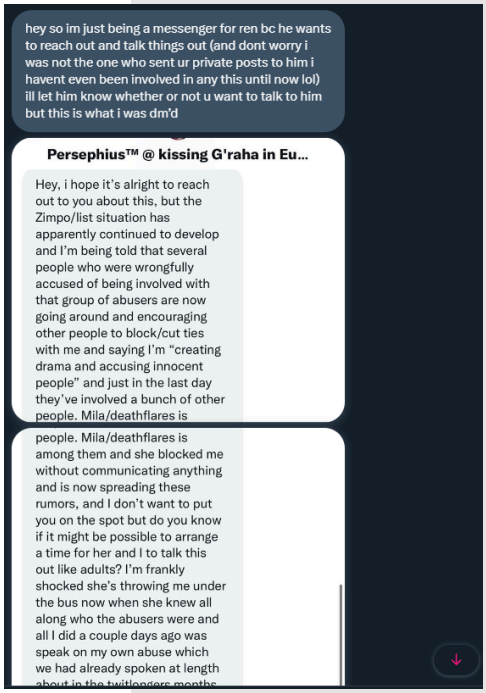

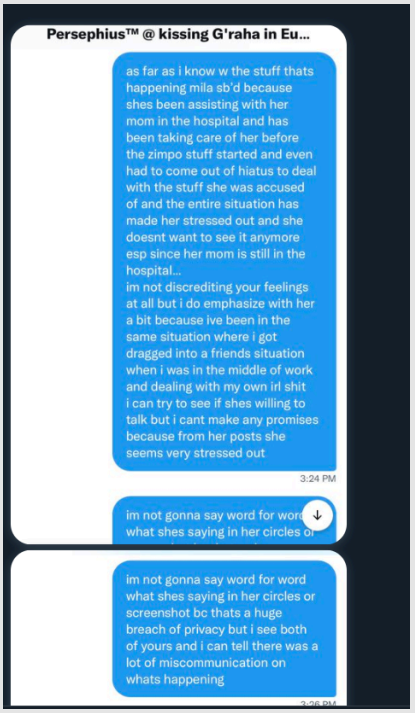

(For clarification, I believe the post mentioned here—which was posted to my circles of a dozen people at best—was me personally venting about finally blocking him for my own peace because I didn't want to be reminded of the incident anymore. If that's "spreading malicious rumours about him" then sue me. Either way, here's said person directly saying no one told her to do anything. Unfathomable, perhaps, but sometimes people just find you deeply unpleasant.)

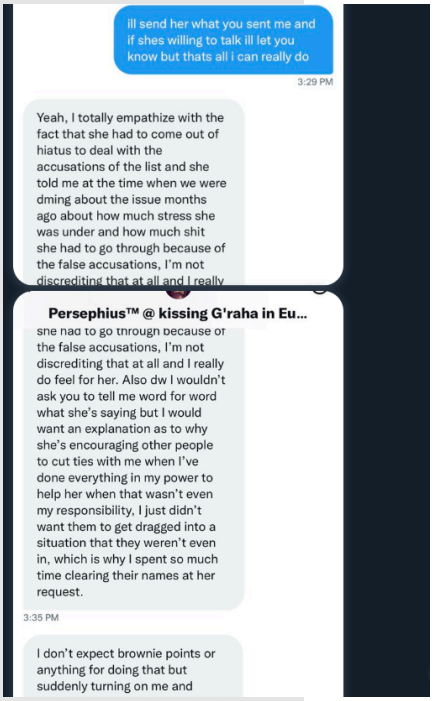

IV. Block evading lol

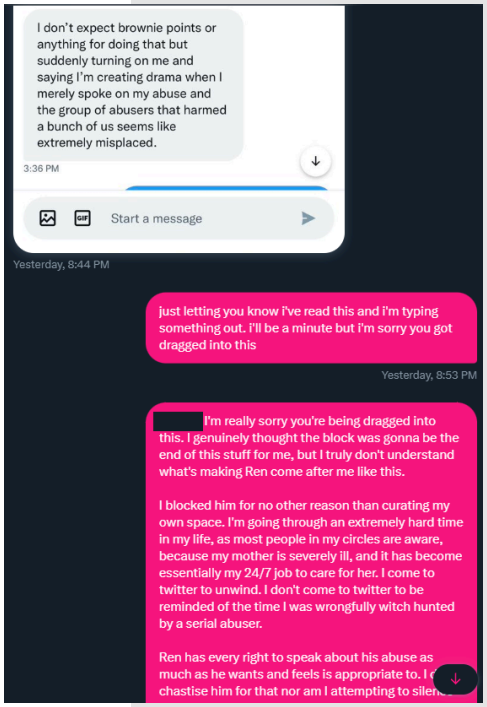

Alas, not satisfied with his several dozen tweets rant slandering every victim of Khione's witch hunt, Ren proceeded to repeatedly badger a mutual to DM me directly to relay a message from him in order to block evade me, again, while my terminally ill mother was in the ICU. My mother being ill and me essentially living in the hospital by that point was common knowledge for anyone who followed me at the time, as I was pretty outspoken about it. You can read the block evade for yourself, as I have no qualms sharing it:

I don't expect brownie points or anything for doing that but suddenly turning on me and saying I'm creating drama when I merely spoke on my abuse and the group of abusers that harmed a bunch of us seems like extremely misplaced.

Yesterday, 8:53 PM
I'm really sorry you're being dragged into this. I genuinely thought the block was gonna be the end of this stuff for me, but I truly don't understand what's making Ren come after me like this.
I blocked him for no other reason than curating my own space. I'm going through an extremely hard time in my life, as most people in my circles are aware, because my mother is severely ill, and it has become essentially my 24/7 job to care for her. I come to twitter to unwind. I don't come to twitter to be reminded of the time I was wrongfully witch hunted by a serial abuser.

Ren has every right to speak about his abuse as much as he wants and feels is appropriate to. I don't chastise him for that nor am I attempting to silence him. Just as he has the right to speak about it as loudly and as often as he wants, I too have the right to not want to see it and not be involved in it anymore. That was all I wanted.
I absolutely never said he was "starting shit" by bringing it up again. I am not spreading rumours about him. I did not throw him under the bus. I am not going around telling people they should block him. I am genuinely confused where he's getting this from, or who's feeding this information, or why he has chosen to fixate on me specifically. The one time through this entire thing where I actually named him was a circles tweet (and I must emphasize, my circles has 20 people in it at most) early today that has now been deleted in which I mentioned him by name because I learned he had named me first to others, several times in a thread where he apparently accuses many of us of conspiring against him?
If I'm throwing him under the bus by silently blocking, then what is he doing by making accusations about me by name when he has such a big audience and immense influence? I had no ill feelings when I chose to block but I certainly do now after being told of what he's spoken about and accused me of.
If I really scour through what I've said in the past few days (which really wasn't much in its totality—I haven't been on twitter much) that could pass as "encouragement" to block was replying to Kai in his circles when he mentioned wanting to softblock Ren that he should do it if it's better for his mental health. I am genuinely puzzled why he thinks I, specifically, am the one who took a turn on a random day and decided to spread malicious specifically, am the one who took a turn on a random day and decided to spread malicious rumours about him and influence others to block him. I have absolutely nothing to do with whoever else may have blocked or unfollowed him other than Kai other than some of them apparently being friends of mine. I didn't even know they had blocked him at all.

I understand the thought of having others spread malicious, baseless accusations about you behind your back and trying to shun you from a community is an extremely distressing situation. Because that is exactly what I went through back in August. :) But I can say for certain that, if there is someone out there who's doing it to him, it isn't me.
This is long enough already, but I just want to say that it's really unhealthy to react like this to people curating their own spaces. Blocking is not a moral statement, and people's rights to curate their online experience doesn't end when it's "you." The fact he apparently learned of my block through unfollow/block trackers is extremely concerning to me. I've always been a very block-happy person. My block list is several hundreds of accounts long. It's not personal.
I'll make it clear once again: I want to be left alone. I no longer want to have anything to do, be reminded of, or dragged into anything related to the witch hunt I was submitted to back in August. I do not want to continue to be claimed to be guilty by association or have my interactions with others be scrutinized.
I do not wish to talk about this, I do not wish to continue to be involved in this, and my block was nothing more than me attempting to do just that. And Ren needs to respect that.
His name will not come out of my mouth any longer,

The person who was badgered to serve as a messenger stopped relaying Ren's messages after this, in spite of his insistence that they continue to do so—in fact, Ren wanted them to send me an entire google doc as a response to my final reply, and only relented after the person denied him multiple times.

V. June 3rd, 2026

In spite of this, today Ren has decided, fully aware that he was lying, to claim he had “exactly one question” about “why I was spreading these rumors” (again, source needed) in “exactly one interaction”.

Ren. Ren. You sent me and the person you badgered several paragraphs, and after I replied in what was honestly more respect than you ever deserved, you still wanted them to send me another reply. An entire google doc of a reply. Fully aware of my circumstances, of my mother's situation, and after I had explicitly told you I blocked you for my peace of mind and just wanted to be left alone because, again, my mother was dying. And while we're at it, here's the direct reaction of the person you pressured into block evading towards your post:

I don't need to "spin" anything, Ren. Everything I am posting here is screenshots of things that were actually said. You were trying desperately to get ahead and distort my words, because you know you're in the wrong.

And please, my harassment? Mine? My "defence of outed abusers?" Employing DARVO? I'm reversing victim and offender because I blocked you, like you did nothing in retaliation to me after that? Like you didn't post that entire thread slandering multiple people who were victims of Khione's witch hunt, like you didn't baselessly accuse me of spreading malicious rumors based on what evidence?

I've posted literal proof that asamino, the person who softblocked you and who you claim "made clear deathflares is spreading malicious rumors about me" did so because she was already tired of seeing you on your timeline. After three years, do you still not realize how incredibly creepy it is that you use follow and block trackers to keep tabs on everyone who commits the horrendous crime of deciding they no longer want to interact with you?

Oh, but you're still going, aren't you? Let's go one by one:

I sent you a big long document self-victimising and lying? I typed my reply to you from the side of my mother's ICU bed, and you now decided to post that reply to your followers—as if what I wrote makes you look good in any way. Also, please—you privately confronted me? You badgered someone else to block evade me because I had already blocked you. You make a habit of twisting the truth to make yourself look like the always reasonable, perpetually victimized party, while intentionally omitting the full truth of what you did.

Then you claim I was spreading "malicious lies" with Kai, who according to you was "soon exposed for being a notorious attacker"—meaning he hadn't been yet unless you expect me to read the future, the fact I haven't spoken to Kai since all that went down aside—along with an alleged screenshot of me calling your harassment complaint "not a real problem" and calling you a psycho—a screenshot I am extremely confused about, seeing as I didn't tweet anything on February 1st? I've scoured all my tweets from that date, and I still can't find a single thing. I'm sure you'll claim I just panicked seeing it and went back and deleted all my tweets from that date, which, sure, you'll believe what you want and twist the truth to fit whatever paints you as a harmless victim. I, personally, am more inclined to believe that you—or more precisely, whoever sent you that, because I sure never put you in my circles—doctored those screenshots (do note the difference in text size on my last reply and compare to other twitter screenshots—that is not what a highlighted reply looks like).

the alleged screenshot of my circles

I did talk about you my circles—which, again, by that point had a dozen mutuals in it—after I blocked you on February 4th (since you claim it was after I blocked you that I started my "rumors") and learned you had made that absurdly long twitter thread about how I was "spreading malicious rumors". But on February 1st? I was literally, once again, in the ICU. So, again—did I start spreading "malicious rumors" before or after I blocked you? And if it was AFTER, as you've repeatedly claimed, then why is that suspect screenshot dated three days before?

But frankly, even if you or one of your syncophants didn't doctor these screenshots, I'll preemptively stand by whatever I supposedly said—because it still doesn't negate your extensive lies and your utter disregard for anyone's wellbeing but your own. If I posted this, I am certain I was not referring to the harassment you did receive—I've never negated it, nor do I think, even today, that you deserved it or that it wasn't "a real problem"—but rather the fact that you would hijack every FFXIV fandom issue of the day, no matter how minor or serious, to bring that issue back to you and what you went through, because you cannot seem to stand not being the center of attention for a single prolonged period of time. So much for someone who was so vehemently against any victims "centering themselves" in their own abuse.

Oh, but I will correct one thing—you're not a psychopath, you're a raging narcissist. Sorry about the inaccuracy.

That said, you do seem aware of the possibility of doctored screenshots, don't you? After all, after you received my reply through the person you used to block evade, you proceeded to post this:

Persephius™ @ kissing G'raha in Eu... · 21h

Persephius™ @ kissing G'raha in Eu... · 21h

for the sole purpose of not wanting to lose my friendships with them due to untrue rumor, on top of trying to find out whether this image is doctored and someone else was trying to drag me into their personal vendetta again, I'm going to go fucking nuts.

Oh, but let's address the claim that I "called people coming out about abuse a 'witch hunt'". Ren, genuinely, can you read?

I'm talking about myself. I'm talking about the witch hunt I was submitted to with that list. Every single time I've used the word witch hunt, I've been referring to my own experience, and the serial abuser I'm referring to is the creator of that list. Is it that hard for you to fathom that not everything I talk about is about you?

Ah, but since we're in the subject of your ramblings of today, let's look at your first post of today, in which you decided to—once again—block evade (or have one of your sycophants do it, or maybe one of many alt accounts) to specifically keep tabs on me and others, in posts you couldn't even find by searching your own name:

Sucks to be vagued, doesn't it? I guess it's not okay when it's not you doing it? Why don't we look back at the things I've now learned you've been saying, across years, about a mysterious person who was "exposed for spreading malicious rumours" in February 2023?

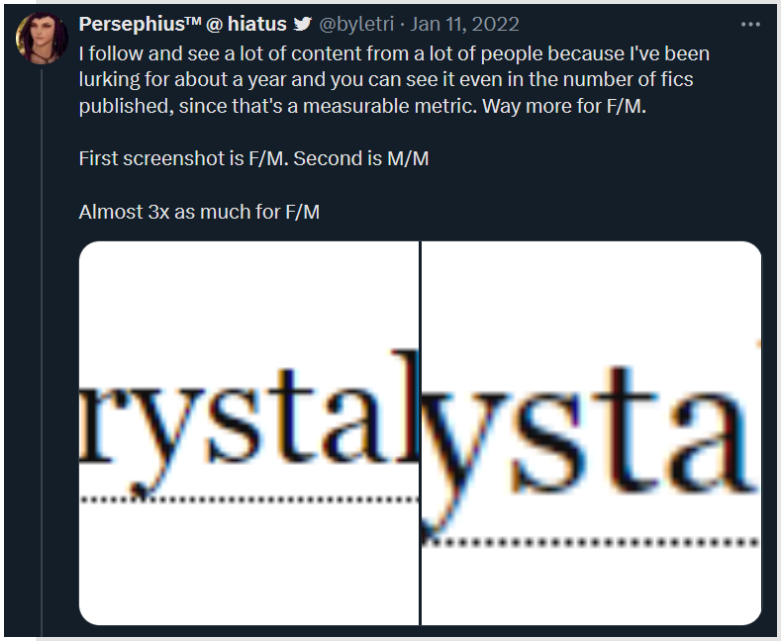

Don't come at me acting like you have at any point left me alone. I can't stand you, but at least I had the decency to not be posting screenshots of your vagues in my public account. You, meanwhile, have had no qualms continuing to make gradually escalating accusations—you believe that someone sending me the thread of false accusations you wrote about me in your circles was doxxing you?—in order to make them fit your narrative. You, who happens to have nearly four times the amount of followers I do.

You love to paint us speaking about our experiences with you as pushback for the original doc you dropped in 2022, and not about how relentlessly harassed the people who were wrongfully put in that “list” were for daring to speak about how the situation hurt us because that meant we were "centering ourselves", about your refusal to name the perpetrator of said list, and about your absolutely deranged reaction to being blocked by people who just didn't want to deal with you anymore.

You always, always twist the truth in order to fit your narrative, no matter how minor the issue is. You claim to be a champion and supporter of “all kinds of wolgraha”, like you didn’t in the past purposefully misrepresent the ratio of M/M and F/M fics on the wolgraha tag on ao3 in order to paint M/M wolgraha as so drastically oppressed—and then made no correction once you were proven wrong.

And then today you used the above interaction to say that "this began when I microaggressed you"... by pointing out stats you posted were wrong? This all started, in your mind, when you took this as a microaggression against you instead of literally just correcting inaccurate information? This is the source of your resentment? Is there nothing you won't twist?

I've been suspicious that your hatred for me began with that interaction, but having confirmation is as baffling as it is, frankly, unsurprising. God forbid someone—especially a woman—puts a dent on the narratives you want to paint.

You're tired, Ren? Well, I guess for once that's something we share.

Every single person you've claimed harmed you for no other reason other than pure bigotry has always, coincidentally, been a woman or AFAB nonbinary person. I know for a fact you've had short lived friendships with women that always end up blowing up once the women in question do something to "wrong" you—the main reason often being they're simply not grateful enough to all you've done for them. God forbid these women don't know their place, right?

I'll be limiting this doc to my experience, but at this point, your history of misogyny and/or thinly-veiled aggression towards female wolgraha shippers is an open secret that's talked about in hushed tones because every single person who's been harmed by you lives in constant fear of being the next target of you and the mob that believes every twisted story that comes out of your mouth. I can only hope one day they'll feel strong enough to share their own stories, but it is not my place to speak for them.

I'm tired. I'm done. I've said my piece, and I'm done ever acknowledging you exist again. I truly hope one day you become a person capable of reflecting on their own actions honestly, but after all of this, I'm not holding my breath.
