RESEARCH METHODS (Capitalized, Bold, Book Antiqua 12pt)

The research method describes the research design, population, and sample (object of research), data collection techniques, and data analysis techniques. Qualitative research with case studies, phenomenology, and others, at least presents the research location, the presence of researchers, research subjects, informants, and research data collection techniques, as well as technical descriptions of research data analysis. Whereas in quantitative research it is necessary to present the population, sample, and data analysis techniques. Written in Book Antiqua 12pt font.

RESULTS AND DISCUSSION (Capitalized, Bold, Book Antiqua 12pt)

The researcher needs to inform some important (original) field data obtained from interviews, observations, questionnaires, surveys, documents, and other data collection techniques. Findings are presented in full and are related to the scope of the research that has been determined previously. Findings may be supplemented with tables, graphs and/or diagrams. Tables and figures are numbered and titled. Example:

Table 1 Table headings should be placed at the top

Title 1	Title 2	Title 3
Entri 1	data	data
Entri 2	data	data

Figures, graphs, charts, schemes, or diagrams are numbered sequentially and titled below, written in Book Antiqua 12pt font;

The results of the data analysis are correctly explained in the article. The discussion section logically explains the findings, linked to relevant sources.

CONCLUSIONS (Capitalized, Bold, Book Antiqua 12pt)

The conclusion contains a brief summary of the findings and discussion, presented briefly, narratively, and conceptually. Avoid using bullets and numbering.

The authors' conclusions and recommendations are given in this section and are consistent in using the term "Conclusion". The conclusion of the study should serve the immediate purpose of the study in this section. This may be followed by suggesting relevant future studies
