

I've just recently started a new blog, which is called 'Triggerlogue', and it is all about me reviewing things, in particular, video games. I would really like a simple, yet professional looking logo, so that i can begin to post about it on social media. I would like a black and white colour scheme please, and also i would like for an analogue stick and a trigger (e.g. the R2 button found on a PS4 controller) to feature in the logo in some way. I'm sorry that i cannot be more specific, but I'm not too fussy- as long as these aspects are included in some way, I am happy!