

The Watershed Podcast Episode 3 – Changing Waters

Reflective Questions

Tim Wallace:

What are your favorite outdoor winter activity? Have changing weather patterns in the winter affected your experience or ability to participate in those activities?

Paula Lillesve:

In what ways could you minimize your environmental impact on water?

Myron Koets:

Have you ever worked on a team to change something in your community for the better? If not, what is something (water or not) where you could bring together people to make a difference?

Mary Stoel:

How much water do you use on a daily basis? What could you do to conserve your water usage?

Mike Kennedy:

What seasonal changes do you observe in the waters where you live? Have you noticed these patterns shift over the years?

Megan Gallagher:

Do you know where your water comes from? If you drink water from a private well, do you get the water tested regularly for nitrate contamination?

Is nitrate in groundwater a problem in your community? How does your community communicate about it and cope with it?
