

AGENDA
CITY COUNTY COUNCIL
AND THE
INDIANAPOLIS POLICE, FIRE, AND SOLID WASTE COLLECTION
SPECIAL SERVICE DISTRICT COUNCILS

May 5, 2025

7:00 p.m.

Plus Annotations from the People's Caucus

I. PRAYER AND PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE – Councilor Perkins

-Councilors take turns leading this section of the meeting. Typically they invite guests such as faith leaders to participate by leading a prayer, and can sometimes invite guests for a presentation of arms or other ceremony around the Pledge. Tonight, Councilor Carlos Perkins is in charge of this section of the meeting.

II. ROLL CALL

-Councilors formally indicate their attendance so that the minutes of the meeting accurately show which Councilors were present.

III. INTRODUCTION OF GUESTS AND VISITORS

-The chair of the meeting has the ability to recognize any guests or visitors at the meeting. Typically this is only done in the rare occasion when a foreign dignitary or some other individual is in attendance.

IV. OFFICIAL COMMUNICATIONS

-Under state law, the Council must communicate to constituents information about actions they are taking that impact constituents' money or could have other deep impacts on their lives.

V. ADOPTION OF AGENDA

-Technically speaking, the agenda is not finalized and accepted until this section of the meeting. On very rare occasions, Councilors can make a motion to amend the proposed agenda in order to add last-second items for debate and vote. This occurred in 2024 when the meeting agenda was amended from the floor in order to vote on creating an Investigative Committee to look into Mayor Joe Hogsett's administration and their potential responsibility for sexual harassment and abuse.

VI. APPROVAL OF JOURNALS – April 7, 2025

-Under state law, the Council must formally approve a set of “journals”. These are formal reports from various governmental units that the Council oversees under the law.

VII. PRESENTATION OF PETITIONS, MEMORIALS, SPECIAL RESOLUTIONS, AND COUNCIL RESOLUTIONS

-This section of the agenda begins with Special Resolutions, which are for honorific gestures that do not have a fiscal or regulatory or mandatory impact on constituents (i.e., there is never funding for these resolutions, they do not have any enforcement mechanisms, and they do not impact the lives of constituents).

After Special Resolutions, the Council proceeds on to “Council Resolutions”, which are the actual impactful resolutions that could affect the day-to-day lives of constituents. Council Resolutions are usually “introduced” at a full council meeting, move to a committee for discussion and a vote, and then come back to the full council for a final vote by all 25 Councilors.

-The Council typically votes first on appointments to various boards. The business of the city is conducted by a large administrative bureaucracy, which is guided by appointed leaders who serve at the pleasure of either the Mayor or the Council.

REFERRED TO: Public Safety and Criminal Justice Committee

DIGEST: approves the Mayor's appointment of Andrew Merkley as the Director of the Office of Public Health and Safety

COMMITTEE ACTION:

4/16/2025 Do Pass 11-0

Andrew Merkley has previously served in a number of roles within the federal, state, and local city government, most recently as the Director of the Division of Homelessness and Eviction Prevention. The position he was appointed to was the Director of the Office of Public Health and Safety - which is a promotion within the same overall department. At the public hearing on April 16th, a number of homelessness advocates and people with lived experience in homelessness testified against the appointment. Included in this group was Rabbi Aaron Spiegel, Allies for Humanity, and Councilor Jesse Brown's own pastor, Dr. Rev. Reginald Fletcher. Councilor Jesse Brown met with Director Merkley personally twice last week to discuss the hearing and to personally tour the site of School 68, which was used as temporary housing for families facing unsheltered homelessness during the winter. Though the facility was in better shape than Councilor Brown had feared, and though Director Merkley should be commended for his openness and willingness to discuss the problems brought up at his hearing, Councilor Jesse Brown is planning to vote no to this approval of the Mayor's appointment. According to Councilor Jesse Brown, there were indeed long delays in opening the winter shelter, but these delays were the fault of Mayor Joe Hogsett, not Director Merkley. Nevertheless, one of the only ways the Council can attempt to hold Mayor Hogsett accountable is to vote against his appointments when they aren't paired with an action plan for improvement.

IX. SPECIAL ORDERS - PRIORITY BUSINESS

-This section of the agenda deals with zoning issues. Whenever a business or constituent wants to build, renovate, or improve a property in the city, they must apply for permits for the work and must follow the city-county's planning and zoning documents. If the property owner is trying to use their land in a way that goes against the zoning and planning documents, they must ask the permission of appointed boards such as the Board of Zoning Appeals and the Metropolitan Development Commission. The Council has the right to overrule these appointed boards and instead call for a formal public hearing on the zoning matter in front of the full council. This is called "calling down" a matter. It's very rare, and involves a long and complex matter at the following full Council meeting. At most meetings, the Council instead votes to approve the decisions made by these appointed boards.

X. SPECIAL ORDERS - PUBLIC HEARING

-The President of the Council, in his authority as chair of the full council meeting, typically does not allow public comment at these full Council meetings except where required by law. Items in this section are required by law to allow public comment prior to a vote. Note that most committees allow public comment on nearly all items they discuss at committee meetings. There are no items under Special Orders - Public Hearing tonight.

XI. SPECIAL ORDERS - UNFINISHED BUSINESS

-This section of the agenda is for any matter that was tabled in the middle of discussion at the previous meeting. This is extremely rare, as the Council will usually send a matter back to committee for further discussion, possible amendment, and voting rather than ask all 25 Councilors to continue debating at the next full Council meeting.

XII. SPECIAL ORDERS - FINAL ADOPTION

-This section of the agenda is where General Resolutions that passed out of committee are given their final vote by all 25 Councilors.

XIII. SPECIAL SERVICE DISTRICT COUNCILS

-The meeting of the Indianapolis City County Council is also technically a meeting of the special service district councils, which are separate authorities with a separate ability to levy taxes and raise funds for the purposes of providing police, fire, and solid waste services. In practice this section of the agenda is rarely used.

XIV. NEW BUSINESS

-This section of the agenda is for new matters to take up for debate and discussion by the body. In recent history, this section is not used.

XV. ANNOUNCEMENTS AND ADJOURNMENT

-This final section of the meeting is used to formally close out the meeting. Councilors have the ability to recognize by name deceased constituents or other supporters in this section.

The President The docketed agenda for this meeting of Council having been completed, the Chair will now entertain motions for adjournment.
