Hello, thank you for taking the time to read this document. The events described in it happened about 4-5 years ago, before the first Sinder debut - I understand there will doubtless be accusations of me clout chasing by revealing them, however I wanted to corroborate Nanoless' assertion that she is not who she appears to be on the surface, and confirm that no matter how much damage control she does, she is just as responsible as Redacted.

The beginning

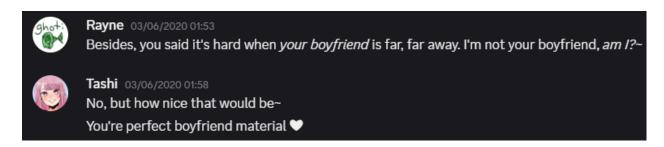

Sinder & I met while she was still running her Tashi.mp3 youtube channel, which is why all the following screenshots will show her as Tashi rather than Sinder, and that will come up later. At the time she was only just starting her account and I already had my own ASMR RP channel with ~8k subscribers, and as a bigger channel than her she couldn't wait to work with someone as "talented" as me.

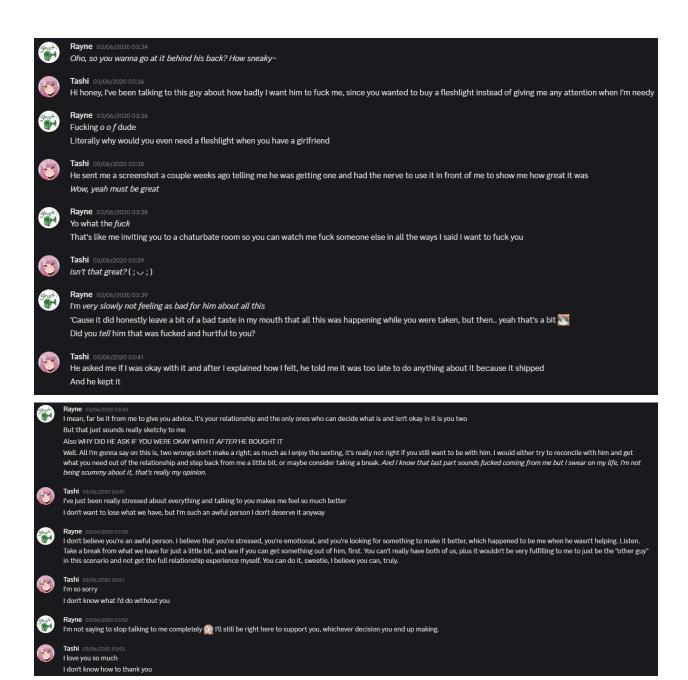

We never ended up actually making any content together, but that didn't stop us from talking pretty much every day at the time, and eventually she found a new way to make me useful.

Oh dear

Pretty much immediately she was flirting with me despite, as you can see here, having a boyfriend and both of us knowing she had a boyfriend, including regularly talking shit about him to me while telling me how great it would be were I to replace him. (I understand that I'm no angel in this myself but hey, at least I can be honest about it.)

Despite what was evidently nothing serious for her and just a means of keeping herself occupied, she felt the need to keep stringing me along with proclamations of real love (Which again, I was silly to have believed in the first place, but still)

For obvious reasons I won't share any of the explicit sexting, not just because of the nsfw nature of it but also I just don't think it helps. However, note that this all went on for several months and included more than just text, as both the date and the contents of the following screenshot proves

Rayne 09/09/2020 12:37

I mean, it looked like something was going on down there either way~

Tashi 09/09/2020 12:38
It's called fingering, dear~

One reason I felt it important to share these details in particular is because I never found out if Red got told about what happened, especially not in full lucidity. The primary reason I've held on to all this for so long was an itching feeling that Red never fully knew, and it always felt like it would be unnecessary drama so I left it alone, but now seems as good a time as any. Red, if you're reading this, I'm sorry for all that happened back then, I really am. But given the actions you two have taken together regarding other VTubers, I still think you're perfect for eachother regardless.

The end

After Sinder got done using me for fleeting sexual gratification, our conversations slowed down, exacerbated by the Sinder character coming into fruition and finding immediate success. I'd stopped making content for a decent length of time by then, and thus she no longer felt she could ladder-climb from me.

Tashi 03/07/2021 17:44

Hey, hey! What was your exam for? I haven't been on this discord account super often so I missed a bit;n;

Rayne 03/07/2021 19:41

She made a new group chat without me 🔊

I kid, but yeah they were the entrance exams for the uni college

Tashi 03/07/2021 19:43

Nice! Congrats on passing them c:

I've just been on the VTuber side of things working with commissions and whatnot

Rayne 03/07/2021 19:48

What, and Sinder doesn't wanna be my friend, only Tashi does? >:c

Tashi 03/07/2021 20:00

It's just easier not having multiple ongoing conversations $\boldsymbol{x}_\boldsymbol{x}$

Until eventually she stopped using that account altogether and committed fully to Sinder, and I never heard from her again, something I was uncannily aware would happen even back then.

Rayne 10/07/2021 04:54

I'll message you at this time in 2022 and you won't even remember who I am 😭

Tashi 10/07/2021 04:56 I'd never forget you

And that's pretty much it. This isn't meant to be a witch hunt - we all make mistakes, including me as I've shown in this same document, but it felt like a good time to get off my chest things that have been on it for half a decade now and to finally get some closure, even though I know how bad I look alongside her. She's an opportunist wherever she can find a way to be, and she does not care what happens to the people she springboards off from. I can only hope she takes this all as an opportunity to change and grow as a person.

And I'm just gonna throw this one in the end because it's kinda funny for me to see in retrospect okay thanks for reading

Tashi 12/05/2020 03:19

Don't forget about me when you become a big popular youtuber! √*(·ω·`)