ABSTRACT

Write one self-contained paragraph in English (maximum 200 words). Clearly identify the research problem and objective, methods or analytical approach, principal results (including relevant quantitative findings), and the main conclusion or contribution. Avoid citations, undefined abbreviations, figures, and tables in the abstract.

Keywords: Keyword One, Keyword Two, Keyword Three, Keyword Four, Keyword Five;

INTRODUCTION

Introduce the research context, problem, significance, and motivation. Explain the gap in existing studies with appropriate references. State the research objective, questions, contributions, and (where relevant) hypotheses. Use English throughout the manuscript.

Place in-text citations consistently using the reference style approved by the editorial team. Example author–date citations: (Author, 2024) and (Author & Author, 2025). Replace these placeholders with authentic, traceable sources.

LITERATURE REVIEW AND HYPOTHESIS DEVELOPMENT (IF APPLICABLE)

Discuss essential concepts, theoretical foundations, and empirical studies. Compare previous findings critically rather than listing studies. Develop hypotheses from theory and supporting evidence where relevant. If a separate literature review is not required, integrate this discussion into the Introduction.

RESEARCH METHODS

Describe the research design, study setting and period, datasets or participants, sampling, instruments, variables, procedures, algorithms or models, implementation environment, and evaluation criteria. Provide sufficient detail for reproducibility. Explain ethical approval and consent when applicable.

For computational studies, report data partitioning, parameter settings, hardware or software versions where material, and evaluation metrics. Specify relevant baselines or comparison methods.

RESULTS AND DISCUSSION

Present results in a logical order and explain the meaning of the findings, not just the observed values. Relate results to the research questions and compare them with relevant prior research. Discuss limitations, practical implications, and scientific contributions.

Method	Accuracy (%)	F1-score (%)
Baseline	XX.XX	XX.XX
Proposed	XX.XX	XX.XX

Note: Replace all example values with actual results; define abbreviations and report test conditions.

All tables and figures must be cited in the manuscript and remain readable at the final column width. Include measurement units and explain symbols. Equations should be editable rather than embedded as low-resolution images.

CONCLUSION

Summarize the main findings in relation to the research objective and describe the contribution without repeating the entire discussion. Mention the most important limitation and a focused direction for future work where appropriate.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS (OPTIONAL)

Acknowledge funding, institutional support, and contributions that do not qualify for authorship. Include funding identifiers where applicable.

DECLARATIONS (IF APPLICABLE)

Funding: [Specify funding or state "No external funding."]

Conflicts of interest: [Disclose conflicts or state "The authors declare no conflicts of interest."]

Data availability: [Provide repository/link or justified access restrictions.]

REFERENCES

Use a consistent APA-style author–date system, following the supplied METHODA writing guide until METHOMIKA editorial policy confirms its preferred reference format. Ensure every in-text citation has a corresponding entry and vice versa.
