

This is an email sequence for one of my prospects. I've written a description section for her before but now I believe the business has built a bit of an audience and I thought an email sequence would be a great way to engage her fan base.

She wants her clothes to be easy to buy.

Wants it to not look revelling and professional in all areas.

Her target market are females from the ages of 25-35

She wants the clothing to be worn in all scenarios such as work, clubs, meetings with friends and families, professional meetings etc.

She wants Christian values for her company

Women's clothing designed to make you look and feel your best
