

-- rules & guidelines

general information.

All blogs are 18+. Mun is 25+. Do not interact if you are under 18.

All the blogs I run are mutuals only.

Do not interact / follow if you have any interactions with Satan / Miles / demonslayvr.

I do RP adult themes such as smut - these will be tagged as NSFW and tw: sex.

Other adult and dark themes will be present throughout my blogs, including, but not limited to gore, violence, torture, dubcon, cannibalism, etc., labelled under the tw: ____ tags.

Please tag religious guilt as tw: guilt.

I am multiship, but do not force a ship. Discuss with me first.

All mains are non-mutual and are only used for prioritizing replies.

Keep in mind I write the V portrayed in Visions of V; brusque, goal oriented, manipulative, more likely to stab rather than mend. He may appear nice, but he isn't.

ooc interactions.

I personally struggle a great deal with interacting with people through any place outside of the tagging system. I rarely, if ever, send any memes, and I rarely DM/discord with people unless I have permission from the person that I may speak to them.

I don't know if this is a mental block or anything, but if I don't speak to you/send you memes or anything of that sort, it's because of this. I don't have such a block when I'm writing in character though! It's only when it comes to OOC banter, plotting, and memes.

(Saying 'Hi' in a DM or something like that is usually permission enough for me to speak, though. I can carry on and initiate things afterwards. I will sometimes also put out 'Give this a like and I'll slide into your DMs for plots' post, which I can also take as permission to speak to you.)