Stand:「Thunderstruck 」

User: Terrance Narciso Terruno

Destructive Power: E | Speed: B | Durability: N/A
Precision: A | Range: A | Development Potential: C

Ability: Thunderstruck allows Terrance to control and manipulate any object that has electricity currently running through it.

Musical Reference: Thunderstruck by AC/DC

E.L.O Part 2

8:05

Terrance Jumped to the left, narrowly avoiding a green laser beam shot to his last location, he jumped to the next roof and narrowly ducked under another beam, keeping up his chase.

Victor: 'Damn it! He's not letting up!' Victor moves his head under E.L.O, opening and letting its beetle creatures into its mouth. Terrance only looked confused as He closed his eyes in pain as they rumbled in his mouth before snarlig and turning towards his chaser and spitting them out at him.

Terrance jumped over one, side stepping the next, he punched towards the 3rd beetle and destroyed it. Before pulling back his arm another beetle stuck to his arm, biting deep into his flesh and starting tearing through. He growled in pain and tried to pull the beetle out but it clung hard onto his arms, he took a deep breath and yelled before pulling the beetle off, some of his flesh with it.

Terrance hissed in pain and threw the beetle to the ground, stomping on it. He ran and jumped to the next building, avoiding the other approaching beetles, looking up to see Victor had gotten away on the ground. He couldn't go after him either since the next building was a good drop…… an open dumpster.

Terrance: "You gotta be kidding me!" Terrance sighed and closed his eyes and prayed for a soft landing, taking a deep breath and stepping off before curling into a ball. His prayers were answered, with a….slightly less than comfortable landing, he jumped out of it and held the side of his hip which was bleeding.

Terrance 'Yeah! Gonna feel this tomorrow morning!' He ran out the alleyway holding his side, Victor now even further away, Terrance looked around him for something to stop or slow him down.

Terrance: 'Wait a second, the street lights! Usually when things have too much power they explode, and when a light bulb explodes it goes everywhere!' "Thunderstruck!" Commanding his stand, some street lights start to shine brighter before bursting into flames, shooting glass shards all around.

Victor: "What The- GAAAAAAAAH!!" Victor shouted in pain as a glass shard went through his cheek, stabbed and stuck in his arm and cut his chin, other pieces of glass that stuck onto or in his clothes. Victor fell to the ground, looking and glaring at Terrance who was walking up to him. Unknown to him, the street light he was under was shaking and tilting.

Victor: "Y-you d-damn! Guh!" He coughed up blood "You! My work shall not be in vain! We shall succeed! "

Terrance: "So I'm guessing you're part of the cult huh, well just know you sort of did this to yourself dumbass. Victory's already mine!" Terrance pushed his glasses up to his forehead and pointed at Victor with his left hand, his right going over his left shoulder.

Victor: "Heh."

Terrance: "Huh?" Terrance looked at him confused, taking a step back as Victor's hand went over his face with a crazed look entering his eye.

Victor: "HahahaHAHAHAHAHAHAHA! Hee hee! You really think I didn't calculate this happening? When you're a scientist you have to calculate everything, even stand abilities such as yours! Show him your true magnificence E.L.O!"

In a flash, a somewhat broken looking E.L.O shot out of its user towards Terrance, striking him directly on his forehead and knocking him to the ground, throwing his broken glasses away. The stand curved back and hovered over its user for a few seconds before slowly moving upwards, getting bigger and bigger until it towered over its user.

It's center opened and levitated Victor upwards into it, he stopped laughing and looked at Terrance who hadn't moved, making sure he was knocked unconscious before. Inside E.L.O at its back was a fridge, 2 couches, and a coffee table with a phone on it. To its front was a chair connected to the ground that could shift from side to side and a huge control panel.

Victor headed towards the coffee table, moving slightly slow due to the pain of pulling out the glass shards in his body. He picked up and pulled at the shards for a few minutes, holding it in as he pulled the shard out of his arm and cheek and bandaging them.

He picked up a phone and dialed a number, grabbing a can drink called " relaxing on one of the couches while it dialed, Click!

???: "E.L.O, Have you eliminated the enemy yet? A deep voice came from the phone,

Victor: "I've knocked him unconscious sir, he will be a speck of dust in a few minutes."

???: "Very good, but understand this! If I find that he gets away alive then understand this, you shall become the next sacrifice to our king!" The call shuts off and Victor Sigh and drops the phone in his rubber boot, grumbling a little before getting up and stretching, walking towards the control panels of his stand.

Victor: "Just because he's a leader doesn't mean you have to be such a brute, at the very least he's amazing at his greens. Mmm, Should probably do some more exercise, I've been getting tired way easier lately."

He sat down on the Chair and grabbed the wheel and pulled back, going backwards a bit and pushing forward and down, turning E.L.O vertical. Though to his extreme surprise, Terrance had disappeared.

Victor: "I-impossible! He was spiked directly in his forehead, he should be unconscious! N-no, stay calm, I can still find him before the leader finds out." With a hard pull backwards and another forwards, The U.F.O went straight and shot off, moving all around the top of the city.

???: "Finally, he's gone."

不平を言う!!

"GRUMBLE!"

The pavement road moved and shifted with electricity flowing over it, it lifted up and Terrance crawled out from under it. He didn't waste time to dust himself off before moving as fast as he could towards the near alleyway, holding his head in hand.

Terrance: "Guh, and people say science is boring or useless! take that!"

Once in the alleyway, Terrance emptied black bags of trash and covered himself as camouflage, not caring that it smelled horrendous but only caring for his survival.

Terrance: 'How the hell do I beat him now? He's too high to throw anything at him and I can't get to him! If I can stop his stand then I win…..' Terrance thought back to his encounters with the stand, noticing something that was always the same. 'The stand is physical, it hit me on the head and carried its user, so maybe….. I can catch him!'

Terrance removed his cover and looked upwards, his face illuminating a second as E.L.O flew past over him before jumping into the dumpster and grabbing multiple metal objects, occasionally covering himself when Victor slowed down his stand or stopped.

Once the coast was clear he jumped out and ran out of the alley holding broken and rusted metal, silverware and duct tape, waiting for the spaceship to come.

Terrance wrapped the metals together, making four bars that had knives or thin and sharp ends at the end of them. He hid the bars and got into position, looking out for the U.F.O which did not take long.

8:19 PM
Victor's face was covered in sweat, fear coming off him as his mind unfortunately wondered to the torture he'd receive if he couldn't find his target.

Victor: "No. No no no no no no no no no no no no no no no no- Wait a second." He blinked and adjusted his eyes, widening as he spotted Terrance simply crouching near a street light. Not a single question passed through Victor's head as he moved his stand forward but not as fast, pressing a button on the right side of the steering wheel.

a segment of E.L.O's underside opened, revealing a bigger version of what the stand used to shoot laser beams, pointing at Terrance.

Victor: "Take this you damn nuisance! Incinerate him E.L.O!" E.L.O started its beam, one that was immensely more powerful than its previous ones.

Terrance's face didn't falter, he grabbed one of the metal bars and held the bottom of it on the pole he stood on, pointing it at E.L.O.

Terrance: "Thunderstruck!" Electricity jolted all around the pole, coming onto the bar and Terrance's hand, Terrance not noticing that it wasn't affecting him, before the bar shot out of his hand at bullet speed, hitting his target with a loud CLANG!.

E.L.O'S charge was disrupted as Victor gasped in pain, holding his foot and removing his shoe, seeing his foot bleeding with a hole in it.

Victor: "Damn you!" He grabbed the wheel again and shot from side to side to avoid Terrance's continuous shots, shooting a more powerful laser as Terrance but he dodged and moved to another pole. This went for a few minutes before Terrance ran out and started running away. Victor saw this as his chance, chasing the boy with victory in his mind.

Victor: " Yes, This is where you shall met defeat! I! Victor Sanchez! Is victo-" Victor's mouth shut, his hands slamming to his sides. His body was tightened and squeezed. 'What? WHAT IS THIS!?'

Outside, E.L.O was seen held in place by a large amount of wires, shaking and rumbling. There stood Terrancw on the ground, his hand out as if crushing something, his other hand under it in a fist.

Terrance: "You flew right into my trap! I just needed you to chase me without getting suspicious so I thought the only way was to get you mad, and looks like it worked huh?"

Victor's face showed horror, knowing what could happen next is not going to be horrible.

Terrance: "Have a taste of「 Max Voltage 」bastard!"

To Be Continued>>>>>>>>
Outro: Dreaming Of Eden