

Emails

Hiring email

SL: Copywriter service free of charge!!

Hello,

I am glad you have taken time to open and view this email, This shows dedication. I am emailing you to inform you that I am now in the market for clients.

I am not here to charge for my first exposure since this is a new career path. I am looking for great businesses to collaborate on boosting customer interaction and inspiring them to join your business. All I want is an honest testimonial at the end. I want to better myself and your business.

Your main question is how did I end up in your inbox? Out of all the businesses in Dundee, This is purely because of the company you run. I believe in your values and standards and want my work to help the people that act.

The people I will persuade won't fall short and will get fitter, stronger and their overall health will improve. That's a win across the board.

I am one single email away. If you are interested, please let me know and I will organize a spin call to discuss our plans.

Kind regards

Victor

P'S My free service is only for the first 3 clients that agree to collaborate together.