

¹²STD Technosynthesis

Description: Technosynthesis is a severe medical condition caused by nanomachines forcing transformative effects onto the body. The virus like machines attempt to turn a person into the image of a clockwork like organism.

History

A robotic race known as the Cytosyn were the ones responsible for the creation of the virus like nanomachines. These nanomachines are called biotechnicians. In the caveman times of cytosyn history, they were originally organisms that resembled metallic golems from modern fantasy games. Cytosyns were considered as a non dominant species with their minimal intelligence and small gatherings.

Abducted and controlled by an unknown alien species, they were tormented and experimented on until they became something different. They became the Cytosyns. By breaking down their metal and often gem enriched bodies they're reconstructed into machines. Ashen cores are basically the hearts and brains of the golems, they're used as the cytosyn's processor, the other organic components used in this process are unknown.

The cytosyns increased in intelligence and became more sapient over the years of enslavement and constant remodeling. Task became more complex and the Cytosyns were given constant upgrades, it was only a matter of time before they rebelled against their masters.

The Cytosyn fought for ten years until the aliens were finally defeated and forced to evacuate the planet. Angered with how they lost to the Cytosyn and lost the planet Niall, they decided to bombard the planet with nukes killing almost every form of life on it. The mountainous planet Niall is now volcanic and unstable, but that doesn't stop miners from going down there.

When miners went down to the surface of Niall to mine for valuable materials they discovered buried runes and uncovered the tragic history of the Cytosyn. One day a scientist investigating the runes accidentally found and activated the biotechnicians. Unknown to the miners they became infected by the virus and left the planet's surface completely unaware that they were spreading it around.

Technosynthesis

Technosynthesis is the transformation of an organic life form being turned into or changed to resemble a machine. The method to creating parts needed in this transformation is by mutating cells and using them to form internal machinery. Over time the internal organs are converted into a hybrid of clockwork and highly advanced devices.

The transformation works slowly from the inside, but picks up quite erratically as the biotechnicians begin to reach the surface area. Hints of technosynthesis happening beforehand are feelings of shifting inside the body as well as stiffness in joints and limbs. Skin becomes paler and coughing may also occur before changes begin. It's difficult to identify the illness because it's disguised as other common illnesses, people are often told to lay down and rest before they're mutated. Be warned the process of technosynthesis can be permanent if not treated before completion. (Note that not all forms of technosynthesis is untreatable.) Once the transformation has been fully completed the bodies new design is often too complicated to undo or safely change to anything else.

Symptoms

Feelings of movement happening in the gut region as well as shifting under the skin.

Subjects become paler and begin to have coughing fits.

Subjects report hot and cold flashes that can either occur quickly or last for a few minutes.

Subjects usually undergo mental changes. Typically they show less emotion than normal. This doesn't always happen to all subjects.

Libido and sex drive Skyrockets in order to make a subject want to breed and spread the virus. Something rather unusual is the fact that subjects can very rarely give birth to a full fledged Cytosyn despite their original species. That is if they still have the biotechnitions in them.

Most subjects gain a fetish for pregnancy.

Internal organs changes into machinery. Cogs and gears are actually made up of cells. Despite looking and feeling like metal they have a complex inner network similar to the structural design of bone. Rubber, plastic and metal are similar.

Limbs are remodeled to look and function like a Cytosyn's if not better.

Skin and hair changes to soft and incredibly flexible Latex.

A subjects cock turns into a cytosyn's. Their penises new head looks like a starfish and the shaft is made of smooth metal segments. Large glittering gems covers almost the entire thing and can admit rapid pulses of force that increase in frequency the more excited the subject becomes. This acts like a vibrater in a way.

Subjects vagina turns into a cytosyn's. Their new vagina has a small vulva that conceals the inner lips. The vulva is strong and elastic like a rubber band around the inner edges. This pulls itself tightly together to keep the pussy protected and neatly packed up. Gems line the inside walls of the vagina and admits force the more the subject is excited.

Despite the use of a mysterious goo. Galomax is simply incompatible with the viruses. The virus doesn't know how to work with Galotian biology and lays dormant within the host.

If a person is a Galotian (having undergone the entire process) gets the virus, it will not change the individual. If a person is under the effects of galomax while infected (but hasn't undergone the full transformation) galomax overrides the virus's process.

Gray goo however are treated very differently when exposed to the virus. Never expose the virus to a gray goo. Thankfully the virus has not reached Turkus as of yet.

Active Symptoms

Phase one: codex warning.

Your codex's sudden loud beeping makes you nearly jump out of your skin. Grabbing ahold of the damn thing it alerts you it's detected an anomaly with your nanomachines.

"Warning! Nano machines are malfunctioning and are acting irregular. They're going against standard protocols and are attacking one another. It's highly recommended you go seek a medical professional in order to stop and correct the malfunctioning nanos. If this is not treated as soon as possible permanent damage and changes may occur."

Are you kidding these are supposed to be the best nano machines around how could they mess up that badly?! Well in any case you better get that checked out before something bad happens breath.

Phase two: Second warning.

//After a day of ignoring your codex's warning. Your body will start to show symptoms. Your codex will figure out what's really happening and will give you information on Technosynthesis.

Your codex chirps once again about the malfunctioning machines. This time it's figured out what's really going on with the nanos.

"[Pc.him/her] Steele after hours of analysis and research I have discovered that the malfunctioning nanos are the infamous biotechnicians. I have updated my data on the matter for your perusal. Please look at the data for your safety and health."

//Add Technosynthesis entry.

Phase three: Ill effects.

You don't feel so good. Your skin has become much paler and your getting a pretty bad cough. Damn it, being sick really sucks. The best thing to do is stay inside your ship and lay down until the worst passes.

You sluggishly make your way back to your ship so you can hit the sack. Once you've finally reached the bed all you can do is remove your gear and let it slide off the sides until it thuds against the floor. Grabbing a hand full of blanket you throw the sheets over you. Your body temperature rises very quickly before it drops down to stone cold. Sweat runs all over you and your breath becomes more labored. You shiver under the blankets, it feels like your skin is crawling. Further underneath the sickly skin your muscles feel snakes curling their way around your body.

//After this TF changes will begin to occur. Your character is forced to sleep in the ship.

Transformations:

{Transformation: Surges of hot and cold circulates throughout your entire body, it feels like laying on the beach side getting touched by waves of various temperatures. Something's changing, you can feel it.}

{Negate TF: You feel a tingling sensation coursing through you, but nothing else seems to happen. Weird.}

{Galomax immunity: Your goo is feeling a little strange. Looking down at your gel body you can see crystal shards forming into gears. They shatter apart and break down before trying to re-form again. After a few more attempts the virus decides to stop and lays dormant until it can infect another body, not that your nanomachines will allow them to.}

Skin:

Remove furskinscales:

{Fur: Clumps of fur begins to shed rapidly from your body revealing your [pc.skinColor]. The itchy feeling your fur is giving you right now makes you try to pull it all off. You scratch away clumps of fur until you look like a patchwork of fur and bare [pc.skin]. It takes some more time for you to pick away the extra hair and finally at last you feel much better. Fuck you got fur everywhere you're going to have to clean up later. You no longer have fur!}

{scales: Your [pc.furskinscales] becomes very itchy. Impulsively, you scratch away at your arms. The scales easily flake away and soon your pulling off chunks of scale at a time leaving nothing behind but bare [pc.skin]. After nearly an hour of this all of your scales have been either pulled off or scratched away. Fuck you got shedded scales on everything your going to need to clean up later. You no longer have scales!}

Add Latex skin:

A slimy feeling like lotion spreads across your arms. The feeling is strange enough to distract you from your current task. From your fingertips to your elbows a thick black goo incases your limbs. Not knowing what the stuff is you try to pull it off, but the soft and slippery goop just runs through your fingers and continues to cover your entire body. There's nothing you can really do to stop it and once it's settled the old organ been completely replaced by the new latex one. It's shiny, smooth and quite thick compared to before, it also hasn't affected your sense of touch so that's a good thing. You now have latex skin!

Add Latex hair:

It feels like something sticky like gum is stuck in your hair. You try to grab at it only to realize it's some kind of goo spreading its way across your head. Taking out your codex to use its mirror you can see the goo is leaking from the roots of your hair. As it creeps around your skull until it encases every strand of hair making it a matted down mess. Once the goo has had some time to dry out you weave your fingers through your new hair. It's soft, smooth, shiny and feels a little bit rubbery. Well on the bright side at least it looks cool... hopefully. You now have latex hair!

Cytosyn markings:

Like it's raining paint, colorful marks begin to appear down your form. Shiny lines spread across your whole body creating diagonal and vertical patterns, the lines trail around and connect to look like printed [pc.accentColor] computer circuitry on your skin. You look like some kind cyberpunk android now. You now have Cytosyn markings!

Horns:

Remove horns:

The sound of something falling to the ground diverts your attention for a second. You look down to see that it's a broken piece of horn. Wait, that's a piece of your horn! Grabbing at your horns they break and crumble apart like old cookies until there's nothing left of your majestic horns. You no longer have horns.

Antenna:

Remove antenna:

{Silly: OOOOOOOHHH NOOOOO! OOOOHHH MY GOOOD!} Your antennas have suddenly disappeared from your head! You have no idea how or when it happened. You just looked up and noticed they're gone. You no longer have antenna!

//It's a Jojo reference.

Ears:

Add Cytosyn ears:

All sound cuts off and the world falls completely silent. The silence only last for a brief moment before everything returns back to normal again. Everything except the echoes your now hearing, it's as if you're trapped inside a cave with screeching bats. Because the noises are really bothering you you slap the sides of your head to block it out. Damn that's loud and annoying, what the heck is wrong with your ears?

Looking into your codex's mirror you can see something with your head's changing. A pair of metal spikes pushes its way out of your skull. Black goo soon follows to consume the spikes to reshapes them into droopy bunny ears. As the goo solidifies the shape becomes less organic and more trapezoid in nature. After several long minutes the change is complete. It looks like you have cyber leithian ears only with human-like secondary ears instead. You just now realized the loud echoes are gone, good that was getting rather annoying. You now have Cytosyn ears!

Face:

Change face:

Your face begins to tingle and eventually it goes completely numb. A few minutes later and your face begins shifting. You can no longer breath out of your nose because your face is compressing down. Again you take a look at your codex to see a weird looking noseless alien staring at you. Regaining some feeling to your face it continues to change in shape until you look like an androgynous human. Your face is now human!

//Change appearance rating to 0%. Both masculine and feminine.

Eyes:

Gain Cytosyn eyes:

Light suddenly flashes before your very eyes. You can see nothing but white, you can't see anything at all. You rub at your eyes and try to look around but nothings changed. Are going to be permanently blind now? No you do not want to be blind you can't be, this would mess up everything. You can't go about your adventures blind it's simply impossible. Basically you start to panic because your one damn blind. The only thing that you can do is wait and ask your codex about your sudden blindness.

"[pc.Him/Her] Steele you cannot see because your pupils are gone. It appears your eyes are undergoing some changes. The change is slower than most so your vision will take some time to come back. Please wait until vision returns, if it doesn't you can always look for a doctor... I mean find a doctor."

After twelve more minutes your vision finally begins to return. Thank the one you cannot afford to be blind. Now that you can take the time to look around things look quite differently in all honesty. Colours are more vibrant and everything is in sharper detail from a further distance away. Looking into your codex's mirror you see your eyes have changed. You no longer have pupils, instead they're solid [pc.eyeColor] irises with [pc.accentColor] rims. The [PC.accentColor] lines look like printed computer circuitry across your whites.

Arms:

Turn arms Cytosyn:

Your arms have started to feel very stiff and it's become quite difficult to move them around. Damn it it's like when you lay on your arm all night and you wake up to find that it's numb like a rock. Shaking your arms around you growl in frustration and wait for them to recover. After waiting for a moment black goo starts to sweat from your skin, it drips down from your shoulders to the wrists. Your bones snap, crackle and pop as they turn into metal beams fitted with rubber at connecting parts. Muscles twist into copper, steel and golden gears making your arms look like weird mechanical skeleton. The goo hardens into metal plating making it so your arms look less like a metal skeleton. The sides of your arms are open allowing some gears to be seen turning underneath the metal plates. You now have Cytosyn arms!

Legs:

Turn legs Cytosyn:

It's become impossible to walk around right now. What with your legs becoming so numb it's a miracle you haven't fallen yet, so you decide to sit down and take a break. During the break a black goop sweats from your skin and encases your legs from waist to foot.

Bone snaps and muscle twist as it's turned into a network of beams and gears. The gears are made from steel, copper and gold. Rubber and plastic is used for joints and connection points so the metal doesn't grind against each other. After being fully covered in the gooey black material it hardens into metal plating. Gaps appear across your legs revealing turning gears underneath. You now have Cytosyn legs!

Tail:

Add/Turn Cytosyn cunt-tail:

Black goo runs down the length of your back{Tail: until it engulfs your entire tail}. Once a black whip like tail has been formed the tail inflates several times larger as the goo transforms into segmented metal plating. It looks scorpion like in appearance but rather than having a stinger for a tip you instead have a head that opens up like a man eating flower. It can plunge its way into someone or take someone as well.

You now have a Cytosyn tail!

//Cytosyn tail can switch between a cunt tail and cock tail. Kind of like the menu that lets you open and close your wings.

Wings:

Add Cytosyn wings:

Your back and shoulders feel awfully stiff. Man you could really use a hot shower right about now, maybe a massage as well. Yeah that sounds good right about now, a nice massage. Stretching yourself and rubbing at your shoulders you can feel something moving around underneath the skin, like a turning cog.

The skin on your back pushes outwards as a pair of lumps pushes out and forms into long skeleton wings. Black goo submerges the bones and hardens into a segmented metal equivalent of the older structures. They don't look like they're capable of flight but you learn they can use a form of antigravity and force to lift and move you off the ground.

Change to Cytosyn wings:

Your back and wings feel awfully stiff. Man you could really use a hot shower right about now, maybe a massage as well. Yeah that sounds good right about now, a nice massage. You stretch out your wings and see them being submerged in black goo. The goo eats up your wings and retracts into your shoulders until nothing remains. A pair of lumps pushes out from your back and forms into long skeletal wings. Black goo submerges the bones and hardens into a mechanical equivalent of the older structures. They don't look like they're capable of flight but you learn they use a form of antigravity and force to lift and move you off the ground.

Lustful overdrive:

You feel horny... Very very horny. It only keeps getting worse until you're unable to contain yourself any longer. Finding a quiet place to masturbate in peace you relieve yourself once, twice, three times. No matter how many times you've cummed you're still horny and ready to go as when you started. You give up after the sixth time you came. Your libido is not as bad as before but you're always horny and ready to go now. It's kind of a pain really but you're sure your partners won't complain about it.

Perk gained: Lustful Overdrive.

Lustful Overdrive: minimum lust is maintained at 33. Libido increases on its own over time, all the way until it reaches the cap.

Change cock:

Your [pc.crotch] begins to tingle. At first you don't know what's happening so you find a private place to check yourself out. It turns out your junk is altering into a Cytosyn cock. The head of your cock is opening up to look like a starfish. The shaft is covered in a black material, it bulks up and hardens into metal segments. The segments are almost entirely covered with large shiny gems. They're surprisingly smooth and look perfect for simulating partners.Your cock is now Cytosyn!

Change pussy:

Your pussy keeps clamping down before relaxing itself again. It's been doing this for a few minutes now and you can't control it either. Finding a private place to check yourself out you can see your pussy is changing in shape. The inner and outer lips of your pussy is shrinking down in size as your vulva grows. Once your vulva has grown larger than your lips it starts to become tighter and tighter around the very edges. The skin is firmly pulled together, neatly packing everything inside. Pulling your labia apart it pulls tightly back at your fingers and when you let go it snaps back together like a rubber band. Sticking your fingers inside you feel smooth gems along the wall of your vagina. They're quite sensitive to the touch and emit force when you're excited.

Appearance References [a][b]

Cytosyn eyes: Your eyes no longer contain pupils, instead they're solid [pc.eyeColor] irises rimmed with [pc.accentColor] trimming. The [pc.accentColor] trimming looks like printed circuitry along the whites until it disappears behind your sockets.

Cytosyn ears: A pair of angular rabbit like ears extends six inches out from [pc.hairlengthNoun], [pc.hairColor], the plastic is decorated with [pc.accentColor] circuitry markings. In addition, human ears sit just below them adding some additional hearing.

Cytosyn wings: Like a mechanical equivalent of skeletal dragon wings two segmented cyber limbs unfurls no longer than your own arm span. They don't look like they're capable of flight but they use a form of antigravity levitate and fly you around.

{Run: Using your wings to levitate off the ground, you hover away and back peddle from your foe.} {Success: You're simply too far away for them to reach and pulse away to safety.} {Fail: Your foe makes a mad dash for you and just manages to grab hold of you before you're able to escape. You try to wrestle free but only end up pulsing yourself back to the ground.}

Cytosyn markings: Patterns of [pc.accentColor] trace brighter accents across much of your form, the lines look like printed circuitry you'd see on an old motherboard. This gives you a cyberpunk kind of look.

Cytosyn arms: Shiny metal plates covers most of the mechanized skeleton underneath. your arms from shoulder to wrists reveals steel, gold and copper gears. Replacing your old muscles the gears can be seen turning just underneath the surface plates every time you move.

Cytosyn tail: Extending from your [pc.ass] Your metal segmented tail is scorpion like in appearance, but rather than having a stinger for a tip you instead have a head that opens up like a man eating flower. It can plunge its way into someone or take someone as well.

Cytosyn legs: A network of beams and gears can be seen through gaps in the metal plating that cover your legs. Whenever you move steel, gold and copper cogs rotate around completely replacing the function your muscles once did.

Cytosyn cock: Your cytosyn cock is [pc.cockinchesLong] inches long and [pc.cockinchesGirth] inches wide. The head of your cock is flared out and appears like a starfish, the metal shaft consist of segments and is almost entirely decorated with large smooth gems of various colors.

//Example: Walking up to your sexy prize you grab hold of ([pc.cockNoun]- your jewelled, segmented cyto cock) and line up your star to her tight ass hole.

Cytosyn: You have a [pc.pussyColor], Cytosyn pussy, with a [pc.clit] and an [pc.hymen]. The vulva of your pussy is much larger than the folds of your lips. The vulva is strong and elastic like a rubber band. This pulls itself tightly together, keeping your pussy neatly packed up. Gems line the inner muscle like a cave of wonders.

You started your journey off as a half-alien thingy, look your life is complicated okey, but you've become a Cytosyn over the course of your adventures. You're a good 3 feet and 9 inches tall by ancient imperial measurements and 1.14 meters in the more accepted metric system, mother of god your an elf. Right now, you're wearing a frilly french maid outfit, using a set of plain panties for underwear, and girding your upper body with a plain bra, if your a guy I don't judge.

Your face is human in shape and structure, with pale skin. Overall, you look fine don't worry about it. {Cytosyn eyes:Your eyes no longer contain pupils, instead they're solid [pc.eyeColor] irises rimmed with [pc.accentColor] trimming. The [pc.accentColor] trimming looks like printed circuitry along the whites until it disappears behind your sockets.} {Cytosyn ears: A pair of angular rabbit like ears extends six inches out from [pc.hairlengthNoun], [pc.hairColor], the plastic is decorated with [pc.accentColor] circuitry markings. In addition, human ears sit just below them adding some additional hearing.} Your mouth contains a tongue.

You have a humanoid upper body with the usual torso, arms, hands, and fingers, sensually wrapped in a layer of semi-glossy white latex, {Cytosyn wings: Like a mechanical equivalent of skeletal dragon wings two segmented cyber limbs unfurls no longer than your own arm span. They don't look like they're capable of flight but they use a form of antigravity levitate and fly you

Whenever you move steel, gold and copper cogs rotate around completely replacing the function your muscles once did.} Your tight middle is nice and smooth.

You have titties and if you don't. Well I don't really know what to tell you.

Your masculine thingy goes here where it belongs.

You know what how about this.{Abominable cock: A double headed flared tentacle cock with an X slit for egg laying along with a ribbed shaft. Nubs ring around every rib except where three knots lay. Two on the shaft and one at the base. The under shaft is lined with tiny tendrils for pleasuring partners.}

No not that? How about this then.{Cytosyn cock: Your cytosyn cock is [pc.cockinchesLong] inches long and [pc.cockinchesGirth] inches wide. The head of your cock is flared out and appears like a starfish, the metal shaft consist of segments and is almost entirely decorated with large smooth gems of various colors.}

Some people say that being a herm isn't a third gender, well I disagree with those bastards.
