

"Hey, you come here often?" Kronii stares, frowning deeply at the smug visage before her." Excuse me I need to go to the library" She tries to maneuver her way out of the person blocking her. Only for an arm to slam against the wall. Trapping her in a katedon.

Kronii shields herself with her schoolbooks, scowling as the person's smile widens.

"Leave me alone Kronii." Ouro Kronii's eyebrows raised slightly, a little taken back by the resistance of Ouro Kronii. " Yo what's with the attitude? I just wanna hang out with you Kronii." Kronii rolls her eyes, fixing her glasses and flashing Kronii with a frightening stare.

Kronii sweats profusely, withering at the cute girl's agonizing gaze. She could feel a lump forming in her throat. God she was so pretty she didn't want to mess this up. She unconsciously untied the ribbon around her neck, sweating like a Canadian during a 10 degree Celsius summer.

"D-Do you wanna...go out and play some Minecraft together?" Kronii croaked out the first thing she thought of. "Nice pick up line. DORK!" Kronii slaps down hard on Kronii's arm, breaking through the barricade and quickly extracting herself out of the situation, but not before sticking her tongue out.

Kronii could only look on with disbelief, face fallen and pride shattered.

"Oooooooh rejeeecteeeee." Kronii stares around her, fellow classmates pointing and laughing at her failure.

"N-No wait Kronii!" Kronii cries out pathetically as she runs after her fleeing damsel, unaware she had an untied shoelace.

"GWAK!" Kronii falls over herself, thumbing down forward like a Loony Toons character before she crashes against a lone and particularly full trash bin.

Kronii picks up the errant trash strewn around her, cringing at the rank stench covering her. Her antics had attracted a large crowd of people around her. All of them pointing and laughing, some of them taking out their phones and taking pictures or, heaven forbid, tiktoks.

Kronii cried inside, curling up like a kicked puppy. Everyone in the Time Academy will never let this down.

They hate her...

It's been a week since the trash can incident. The entire school now calls her Ourostinky Trashronii. She refused to show her face for days by this point.

She was alone by herself in the playground, sitting on the swings staring at the dirt.

Just how will she have the courage to go back to the Academy?

"Kronii?" Kronii looks up, like a startled animal. She's face to face with Kronii, the girl's glasses reflecting the dimming sunlight. "O-Oh Kronii I didn't expect to see you here." Kronii lifts up her arms, shielding her face with the baggy sleeves of her hoodie.

Kronii stands there, a sad look on her face.

Kronii has her eyes closed shut, muttering and begging under her breath that Kronii will leave.

Footsteps...oh no...

Kronii feels her presence, the girl standing over her, still dressed in Time Academy uniform.

"Here." Kronii opens up a single eye, seeing a bag full of school material. "This is what you missed in school" Kronii looks up, staring at Kronii's lovely blue eyes.

"Hey...you can't just leave school you know..." Kronii gives a warm smile to Kronii, Kronii's breath stops for a moment. Utterly entranced by Kronii's radiant beauty.

"I-I dont..."Kronii shushes Kronii, placing a gentle finger on her lip. "You better catch up on what you've missed. Otherwise we won't be able to play Minecraft together." Kronii couldn't believe what she was hearing, tears welling up in her eyes.

She loved her!

Or maybe she just took pity on her...either way Kronii couldn't dare refuse her offer. She stands up, wiping away the wetness in her eyes. The both of them leave for Kronii's place, Kronii and Kronii walking down the sidewalk, conversing as the sun sets behind them.

"Wow you really are a Minecraft fanatic. Have you downloaded the new update?" At this Kronii froze, a creeping dread had seized her heart. "Kronii?"

"OH FUUUU-" Kronii groaned out in pain, she had forgotten about the update.

Her items....pain...