

We have probably have been walking for over two days. I was getting tired even though I was born with different colours eyes doesn't mean I know where to find water. Everyone tried to ask me if we found it yet but they could there mouth were to dry to even speak.

We have finally stopped the sun is going down so I sent some people to try to find food or water. They came back with a hole bunch of cactus and said "We could only find these, we will cut them up." It was nice to have a bit of food in my stomach. The sun was just about to come up so we went to sleep.
