

Aimee Neeley Candidate Statement

Finance Committee Chair

As a dedicated member of the Earth science data community, I have long admired ESIP's role in fostering collaboration and innovation to advance the use of Earth observation data. I believe that sound and strategic fiscal stewardship is essential for ESIP to continue its critical mission.

I bring over 17 years of experience in science program management, research administration, and portfolio leadership. In my current role as a Mission Applications Lead for a NASA mission, I am responsible for coordinating multi-institutional teams and large-scale data initiatives. My experience has equipped me with a deep understanding of the intersection between scientific objectives and the rigorous fiscal management required to achieve them.

As I explore new avenues in research administration and leadership, the opportunity to serve as the ESIP finance chair aligns perfectly with my career trajectory and my commitment to the community. My vision centers on enhancing fiscal transparency and strategic investment. The opportunity to serve as the ESIP finance chair aligns perfectly with my commitment to the community. Thank you for your consideration.
