

Apply for VSAC Talent Search!

Talent Search is a federal TRIO program for students in grades 7-12 that takes place right at BFA Fairfax! Students meet in small groups once a month with their VSAC Counselor, Katie Gesser. Together, students explore career and education opportunities, discuss financial literacy topics, and take field trips to college campuses. Students have the option of remaining in the program throughout high school and beyond.

While all families are encouraged to apply, Talent Search seeks to primarily work with first-generation students (neither parent has a four-year degree), and families that meet federal income guidelines. You can take a look at this TRIO Income Guidelines chart to see if your family may qualify.

If you're interested in applying for VSAC Talent Search, please take a moment to fill out our online applications for BOTH student and parent/guardian:

If you have any questions about the program or your child's eligibility, please reach out to our VSAC Talent Search Counselor, Katie Gesser: gesser@vsac.org

Katie is a first-generation college graduate and a past participant in the Talent Search program. She would be happy to discuss your eligibility or any other college/career-related questions!
