Tiger and the Spider

Summary of chapter 6-7

Tiger and Giant tell the police about Butcher. The police thinks that Butcher may have been drugged or poisoned. They want to take a look in Tiger's garden to see if they find any clues and they also want to search the house.

Tiger and Giant go to the shop to pay for the ice-cream that she didn't pay for before. When they are on their way they think about what the man in the van wanted to find when he was in Tiger's house. When they have paid for the ice-cream and bought two more they suddenly they see the van. Tiger has forgotten her mobile phone so they get the licence number of the van and go back to the store to borrow the phone so that they can call the police. When they come out of the store they see that the van is gone.

The next day when Tiger is going to do her homework she asks her dad if she could do them in his study because John is playing his guitar and she finds it annoying.

She goes into her dad's study and decides to find out what her dad was hiding behind the books in the bookshelf. She finds a key to the desk drawer, but she puts it back because she is afraid that her dad will come into the study.

When she goes to bed in the evening she can't sleep. Her dad tells her a story about a trip that her grandfather did to India. Her grandfather met a girl that he became friends with. Her name was Alice. She was the daughter of a very rich man and when they parted she gave him a gift, a diamond. Tiger asks where the diamond is now and her father says that he can't tell her. But he tells her that the diamond is guarded by a spider, a big spider.

Her father says that the story must be a secret between them.

Tiger wonders if the story is true or not.

What do you think?
