

Week of 1/10-1/14 Task List - Stalknecht

Monday January 10th, 2022 Task List

Good afternoon families! Today was a great first day of virtual learning with students. For today, if your child was unable to log on or would like to complete asynchronous work online independently, they may go to their google classroom and complete different tasks for each subject. Below is what it looks like.

Today's Snapshot: Jan. 10th

Hi fourth graders! I am so sad that we are unable to be with each other to learn this week. We are so lucky to have technology so that we can do some learning from our homes! Let's all show perseverance and commitment to quality this week. Use this document to make sure you completed all your work for the day. If you attended class on Zoom a lot of this is done. Please message Ms. Stalknecht on Clever or text at 201-245-4958.

Today in READING we will continue our book Hatchet and read chapter 12. After we read, we will be completing a story map to see what we read. Then we will try to take a maze!

Assignments Due:

- ☐ Read chapter 12 of Hatchet and complete story map
- ☐ Complete maze
- ☐ Work on survival story draft phase

Today in MATH we are review division skills solving using place value disks, area model, or standard algorithm.

Assignments Due:

- ☐ Get green light on Reflex
- ☐ Complete math homework

Today in SOCIAL STUDIES we are wrapping up our Geography Unit by looking at how different continents celebrate the New Year.

Assignments Due:

- ☐ Read article on New Year's Eve and complete activities

Week of 1/10-1/14 Task List - Stalknecht

Tuesday January 11th, 2022 Task List

Good afternoon families! Today was a productive second day of online learning with students. In reading, we continued to read Hatchet to learn about what happens to Brian as he tries to survive in the woods. In math, we continued learning about how to multiply two digit by two digit numbers using an area model. For today, if your child was unable to log on or would like to complete asynchronous work online independently, they may go to their google classroom and complete different tasks for each subject. Below is what it looks like.
