

Becoming a sequence 7 Vampire, Eli feels a very deep sense of elation, a target she has been trying to achieve for years, although she now feels discomfort under the sun. She cogitated inside herself, but she couldn't seem to reach the world under the crimson moon that she entered last time this time.

Weird, that crimson moon should just be a reflection of my consciousness instead of actual abilities, I thought reaching the state of true sanguine would finally allow me to access the world without being close to dying, maybe I should've struggled more during my advancement She thought, but she shook her head and clapped her own cheeks

No, it's great that I can advance without much problem, I should go out to reassure everyone now

She went out and a concerned group of people suddenly felt calmer.

"Let's go get crepes for celebrations" Aron suddenly appeared from behind

"Eh?"

They went to get some crepes, but this time, Aron did not leave immediately, "are y'all not asking why I suddenly appear?" He asked while smiling bright

At this point, Eli has gotten somewhat used to him, but his sudden appearance and disappearance is the most common from what she's seen. "Then why, professor?"

"It's fellow professor for you now, Eli." Aron smiled "someone from my group actually advanced to sequence 7 without leaving for another, I'm so proud" he wiped his tears of joy, but his tears seemed somewhat fake and cartoonish.

Bryce skillfully took a tear stick from Aron's pocket and waved it around, Athy laughed at this before getting embarrassed when Bryce saw her.

Aron laughed and said "oh come on, don't ruin my performance like that."

Eli just smiled at another performance Aron does "I knew it"

Athy smiled, she looked at the 3 of them, some tears started to roll down her eyes. She tried to hide it, but Bryce found out and wiped her tears off "what's wrong?"

Athy tried to act tough, she said nothing, but her face and ears turning red, her eyes reddened and glistened in the evening sun.

Bryce, seeing at this, flustered himself. He quickly cogitated and calmed her down, they say at the bench and Athy finally calmed down enough to articulate her thought

"I" sniff "thought that" sniff sniff "I will" sniff "be left behind" she cried, she became an Apothecary before Eli got registered, and now Eli became a vampire while she just became a Beast Tamer.

Bryce comforted her "didn't I say I still needed a few months to advance? You still have a long time to catch up" he looked at her softly

Eli and Aron are just watching, their eye contact already communicated their inner thoughts, and they choose to be a bystander. Eating their imaginary popcorn as if they're watching a movie.

Athy asked "Really?"

Bryce smiled softly "Of course"

Athy then smiled and apologized for her sudden cry

"It's fine, it's understandable, besides, can't you move to my team after this? I will make sure to adopt you two well" Eli said jokingly

Aron shot "Hey, those are my team members"

They shared a good laugh, Eli, witnessing this, felt a little realization, being human is truly complex and full of emotion.

They went home after this experience, awaiting the festival to come

The festival is loud, Eli was still in bed when there's a lot of noise hitting her wall, she checked the window and kids were shooting paintballs. Thankfully, she did not open her windows immediately, so the inside doesn't get ruined these kids... you think I'm afraid?

She took out her paintball gun and shot the kids away, before flying to Natrus's petting zoo with a dress that covers her entire body to block the sun, the dress is black and frilly, with a very gothic style to it, not rare among Sanguine's to hide from the sun.

When she arrived, she made sure none of the chimeras were healthy, like the duck turtles, chicken frog, and many more. The children visiting are generally either very afraid or very excited. She saw a glimpse of the Natrus and Halkalus leader, Otto and Amedeo walking in the zoo, they seem to be very close friends, talking and laughing. She can see that Athy has been designated to help there too, as she waved at Eli cheerfully. Eli's black gothic dress seems to instill fear in some of the kids, so she was asked to just go around and enjoy the festival.

The chimeras were cute though she sighed

She flew to Magispirius where she saw the Magispirius Leader Hypathia doing magic tricks... to children? She found it weird that she's the one doing the performance. But she did not spend a lot of time there as her target is Neurotius.

In Neurotius, she couldn't find Mr. Richter, but she did see a mass placate, which she joined. As placate from Neurotius usually cost money, she joined on the free mass one in the rare festival, she saw a lot of people, filled with a mix of different emotions, with their own unique life and experience. She's currently trying to understand the inherent difference between humans and sanguine as a side task, her main task is still enjoying the festival. She observed the people while being placated, makes her feel very comfortable. Some cried under the placate, some laughed, truly a mix of emotion.

She flew over admin which is fairly empty, to Oscillus, there are a lot of game stand there, and when she wanted to play, some kids are crying because apparently Ms. Tesla keeps winning without giving them chance to win. She suddenly lost interest in the games and just flew to Halkalus, where she saw the kids shooting paintball again. Since she had nothing better to do, she just walks around Caelastria in circle observing humans.

They're usually happy in the festival, some are sad that Ms. Tesla is just dominating the games, some are excited that Hypathia is guiding them what to read. And there seems to be some closeness between Otto and Amedeo.

It was pretty uneventful for her, but she saw 2 certain someone that she recognized, Athy and Bryce are walking together towards Halkalus, Athy already changed her attire from the zoo. They're smiling and laughing together, she just observed from afar and smiled. She just flies around where the cloud covers the sunlight. Occasionally finding some rogue Tail-Devourer Worms, she took care of 3 of them, they're usually harmless as they're too small to do anything and they will be dealt with before they reach the ground, Eli just took the liberty of ending them early. She saw Charlotte patrolling the area too, so she wasn't very concerned.

The festival is very loud she thought, it's a new experience for her to experience such a large festival, much less flying around during the festival, she inhales deep, sat on the roof and watched the sun almost setting, she quickly went to a stall and bought a cup of warm chamomile tea, which is usually iced, but she requested no ice. She enjoyed her chamomile tea while watching the sun set, with people enjoying the festival in Caelastria this is bliss she thought to herself