Twilight review on the day:

- Great day today but I can do 6 GWS in a day easily so tomorrow I'll get them done. Move forward.
I want to squeeze as much as I can out of this summer break.

Wins:

- Closed another deal with my client

- Created good sales call script - hope to close another discovery project with very good potential client (massage salon)
- Trained arms very hard
- Created first draft of a website, send it to review applied the feedback

Losses:

- I didn't plan my day as well as I thought I did and it resulted in not completing all the tasks. I didn't study biology for 45 - also I have to do it unfortunately.

Insights learned today and how you will apply them to hit your goal:

- Do the right thing, complete every task, work hard and harvest the fruit of your labor.
- Surround yourself with killers and there is 0% chance that you'll lose in this life.

Tomorrow's tasks:

- - Have a call with potential client (massage salon)
- - Apply the review from my G's and finish the project. Send it to a client and evaluate it with her. (beauty salon)
- - Have a call with her, present the next project, connect it to her dream outcome and close it for more than 1000zł. I'll offer her optimization of GBP, creation of social media accounts and posting content, FB and IG ads and then when I'll get photos SEO for her website. After all of this will be set up, we'll change the payment structure for rev share (beauty salon client)
- - Talk with the husband of my client (beauty salon owner), create a sense of urgency for him and close him as a client. He told me that he needs some help with restructuring his website. He has some gate installing business
- - Legs workout - follow TUT as strictly as possible
- - Start research for my new strategy for warm outreach clients. (pretzels company and animations for kids)
- - Study math and biology for at least 45 minutes each.

Any other thoughts you have on your current situation and what you need to work on:

- I have to plan my day better.
