Culinary Delights

New Orleans is a gastronomic paradise. Don't miss the chance to savor the delectable muffaletta at Central Grocery or Napoleon House.

Venture beyond the mainstream and explore places like Clover Grill for an enticing burger after your revelry in the bars. Stanley in Jackson Square serves exquisite brunches and an extraordinary Bloody Mary.

Sipping the Spirit of NOLA

The libations in New Orleans are as legendary as its cuisine. While Hurricanes at Pat O'Brien's are a must-try, Lafitte's serves up original Hurricanes and Purple Voodoos towards the end of Bourbon Street. Remember, moderation is key when indulging in Hand Grenades from Tropical Isle bars!

For a more offbeat experience, try the Carousel Bar at Hotel Monteleone or revel in the frozen Irish coffees at Erin Rose. Venture to the Allways Lounge and Cabaret for a lively burlesque show or enjoy the dueling pianos at Pat O'Brien's.

Exploring Beyond the Norm

Beyond the culinary and bar scenes, New Orleans offers an array of cultural and historical adventures. Embrace the eerie charm of cemeteries and delve into the mystique of voodoo shops. Take a ghost tour to uncover the haunted tales that permeate the city's streets and delve into the Garden District to admire the stunning architecture.

Escape the city for a while and opt for a swamp tour, a rendezvous with gators and the raw, unfiltered beauty of the Louisiana wetlands. Don't miss the chance to ride the St. Charles streetcar and wander through the Garden District's picturesque streets.
