

Carpet trends that have the floor for 2022

With everyone spending a great deal of time indoors, the carpet has once again come into rightful focus as a key designing component which plays a significant role in instantly ushering some colour, pattern, texture, and warmth into any given space. From neutral earthy tones, to bold colour palettes and exquisite geometric patterns, these fresh 2022 carpet trends lend an ever-indulgent finish to the floor, that's nothing short of pure luxury.

Tranquil neutral hues

Those with a penchant for minimalism will be delighted to know that carpets in a neutral palette are here to stay. Create a sense of calm with classic shades which effortlessly co-ordinate with the flooring and blend seamlessly with the interiors. The sheer versatility of this beige hand knotted carpet from the Once Forever collection, in fine quality wool and silk, casts an aura of subtle elegance. An exquisite addition to your home, it can go well anywhere, be it the living room, entertainment space, lounge area, bedroom or even the dining hall.

Horizontal stripes

Horizontal lines create the illusion of extra width. This classic pattern which could be either wide, narrow, sharp, clean, or aesthetically blurry does wonders to small rooms by virtually widening its dimensions. Though initially striped carpets were used in impersonal spaces, like common passageways or staircases, they are now steadily making their way into every room of the house. Perfect for those who like to experiment with layers, one could add elements on top of the stripes to soften the look, and generate a visual break without having to compromise on the cheer it lends to the space.

Warm and sensuous colours

Make a bold style statement in your house by incorporating carpets in warm luxurious shades like red, gold, rust, and purple. These trend-setting dark sensuous hues evoke a sense of rich opulence and add a touch of warmth to your interiors. Instantaneously. Place them on high-footfall areas, like your hallway or living room, because its dark palette can easily mask the effects of everyday wear.

Alluring patterns

Patterned carpets are making a huge comeback because of the sense of grandeur they infuse in any given space. They can deftly set a colour scheme and establish a firm design tone, all at once. An ornately patterned carpet if chosen carefully, can turn the floor into a canvas of your imagination. And much like a beautiful work of art it will allow you an artistic mode of self-expression to make a bold statement of style while adding oodles of comfort to your space.

Geometric abstractions

Geometrics have been around for a while now. We've seen it on cushions, spreads, and duvets, and now we're pleased to see it being experimented on carpets too. This luxury hand tufted carpet from the Graphx collection is an attempt to capture geometry as an expression in a space. Contemporary and minimalistic, it complements the interior design and adds a certain stability and softness through its many clean lines and gentle rounder corners. So, go ahead and give a chic look to your living space with stunning geometrics.

Coordinated with walls

Carpets this year are going to be coordinated with wall colours to generate a sense of continuity and an all-enveloping comfort. The colour coordination is a boon for small constricting spaces because it makes the flooring and the wall appear to merge into each other thereby making the room appear larger than it actually is. This trend works its magic best in classic neutral shades, where a single colour is allowed to run from the floor up to create a cosy backdrop that makes all the furniture and décor pop.
