

Kelly: Summary

Kelly Rimas

EST 3-5-2025

Kelly Rimas is a mutant in the Marvel/X-Men Universe.

Backstory Summary

Born in Lithuania to a native Lithuanian mother and Australian father he was soon moved to the United States where he lived the rest of his life. He would visit his grandparents in the respective countries of his parents in the summer and fall.

His life was relatively normal until his powers developed, causing his life to change drastically. However, the relationship with his family has remained strong.

With the appearance of his powers he discovered he had more freedom, he could have more fun. Kelly began to experiment with himself, testing his limits, his weaknesses, just like heroes he had seen and heard of in books and in history his whole life. These experiments led him down a path of the love for explosives after discovering his gaseous form was flammable and could be used as an explosive compound.

Now, as an adult, Kelly creates bombs using his own gas; losing an extremity depending on how much he captures, which does leave him an amputee on some occasions. Due to this, he has a wide collection of hand made prosthetics, from simple to more technologically advanced.

Personality

Just as his overall aesthetic shows, Kelly is a lover. He is extremely romantic and is known to be quite the flirt. He knows shame but isn't affected by it like most others, he welcomes embarrassment with open arms, seeing it as nothing severe. He doesn't have much discipline and is unserious even when times call for the opposite.

His living space may appear messy and chaotic but to him, it's organized. He has a place for everything, especially his tools and equipment. Kelly is very proud of his works, oftentimes keeping them on display on shelves or in a curio for his guests to see, but understanding that his creations are illegal- given they are bombs -he only allows certain individuals to gaze upon his collection.

He can be extremely biased, set in his own ways and seeing not much wrong with it. It can be difficult to change his mind but there are ways, if one is convincing enough. Kelly's exterior appearance and act can be extremely deceptive, he can mask any emotion fairly easily but to a trained eye his show faces are obviously facades.

Powers and Abilities

Powers

- Gas Mimicry: Can willingly change into some type of gas. For Kelly, he can transform into a sentient cloud of pinkish-grey gas that smells like incense.
- Enhanced Agility: Kelly's agility, flexibility, balance and dexterity are unlike normal humans, but below superhuman level. He is able to balance and contort his body at will but after a certain limit he will experience discomfort and possible injury.
- Enhanced Durability: Due to his Gas Mimicry, Kelly is able to take more damage than the average human.
- Healing Factor/Enhanced Healing: Kelly can heal faster and more efficiently than humans, however, fatal injuries will need medical assistance and even surgery of some kind before his Healing Factor can take over. This also allows him to regrow detached limbs, but at a much slower pace. Often taking weeks, months and possibly years depending on what was severed.
- Explosive Gas: Kelly's gaseous form is flammable and is often used to aid in his bombs and other destructive habits.

Abilities

- Parkour: Kelly is an expert in the art and practice of Parkour, his agility and movement skills aid in this.
- Explosives Expertise: Kelly is skilled in creating, disarming and detonating explosives. He has a knack for creating his own explosives with bright colors. Ones similar to fireworks.
- Thievery: He is skilled in stealth, he uses this to help him commit various crimes such as carjacking, home invasion and any sort of thievery that requires him to be present.

History

Early Life

Born in Lithuania, his family soon moved to the United States for a better life. Kelly's childhood was normal. He had his arguments, his happy days, his sad ones. There was nothing extraordinary that happened to him for the first few years. Life was normal, just like the small picket fence families you'd see on TV or in magazines.

Kelly was a stereotypical boy, he loved superheroes, to play rough, get dirty and whenever injured it was not a big deal. He had many broken bones in his childhood, along with scrapes, bruises and scars. Kelly has quite the history of broken bones, dislocations, cracks, scabs and scars galore. As a child he never knew rest.
