Lesson 3 Assignment: The First Conversation?

Activity instructions

If neanderthals and homosapians did infact communicate through the same language - what do you think they would have said during their first interaction in Africa?

With your partner, create a script of a conversation between the first homosapien and the first neanderthal to ever speak to one another. Each side must say a minimum of 5 responses. This conversation will be acted out in front of the class.

The content of the conversation must be relevant to the ancient world and goal of the assignment, and appropriate.

Choose which one of you will be the neanderthal and which will be the homosapien. Will it be a pleasant encounter? An argument? Confusion? Excitement?

Be creative and have fun!
