Dear [Mention the name of the recipient]

It has been an enormous honor for me to collaborate with a group of executives who are incredibly talented and committed, and who oversee the most talented team of customer service reps I have encountered in my whole career in the technology sector.

I am incredibly appreciative of all the long hours and effort [Mention the company] staff members have put in to grow the business from a modest regional technology company to a manufacturing market and potential contender for the top seller of cutting-edge technology in the world. A CEO does not achieve these things by themselves. These are accomplishments that call for a dedicated group of talented, tenacious individuals to get together and work tirelessly for a shared objective.

As many of you are aware, one of my interests is the creation of alternative energy sources that can supply fuel and electricity to homes, businesses, and automobiles. I have a strong belief in clean energy's potential and a strong desire to help this amazing technology advance.

I've enjoyed being the team leader at [Mention the company]. I am grateful for the connections I have developed with each of you and couldn't have asked for a board of directors who are more supportive. If I can assist with the changeover process, just let me know. I'll use every effort to do my tasks and, if necessary, train others. I want to keep in contact in the future and wish myself and the business nothing but the best.

Sincerely,
