

The first dinosaur to be named was 'Scrotum humanum'

The man who played Darth Vader started out as the Green Cross Code Man

Played hide and seek with horses once. Didn't realise 'You'll never find us' was a clue. (Milton Jones)

Weapons in the original Cluedo patent included: bomb, poison and hypodermic syringe.

The stripes of a tiger are on the outside; the stripes of a man lie inside.

BHUTANESE PROVERB.

The world's hottest chilli, the Trinidad Moruga Scorpion, burns through latex gloves.

Land Rovers sold in Dubai come with an edible desert survival guide, which has nutritional value close to that of a cheeseburger.

The true sign of intelligence is not knowledge but imagination. ALBERT EINSTEIN.

Students at the Technical University of Munich have a 3 storey slide to take them to classes:

Workers at Dounreay nuclear plant found that one of the best ways to remove radioactive stains is to use Cillit Bang.

Einstein never wore socks, because he hated the fact that the big toe always makes a hole in them.

Forty is the only number in the English language that, when written as a word, has its letters in alphabetical order.

The US Navy wanted the Golden Gate Bridge to have yellow and black stripes to help passing ships see it.

Thanks to autocorrect I appear to be having some kind of midlife crisps. (Roger Quimby)

Too much. There I've said too much. (Milton Jones)

The Ancient Egyptians used crocodile dung pessaries as contraceptives.

The document that officially broke up the Beatles was signed at Disney World.

I would have made a good Pope. RICHARD NIXON.

Until the early 20th century in Japan, left-handedness in a wife was sufficient grounds for divorce.

Immediately after copulation, the female scaly cricket often removes the sperm from herself and eats them.

John Paul II asked the media not to use the word Popemobile as he thought it was undignified. They ignored him Useful new word. TESTICULATING: Waving your arms around and talking bollocks.