

I-CATALOGS

I-catalogs is a newly-created, multilingual online showcase of industrial catalogs from international suppliers.

Buyers: save valuable time while accessing a wider selection of relevant products

We aim to help buyers discover the latest company literature such as catalogs, brochures, technical documents and white papers, so their search for new industrial products is made more straightforward. Presented in an easy to read format, many of the documents published on I-catalogs are interactive and enhanced with videos, datasheets, downloads and links. Potential purchasers can connect with and request further information from suppliers located around the world easily and directly.

I-catalogs allow users to effortlessly enjoy relevant, recent documents all in one place, and collect those they like the most. We also let readers share their favorite finds with others on the web. Why not give this exciting new resource a try? Browse through the categories, do a search or create an account to take advantage of extra features.

Suppliers: easily increase the visibility of your publications

If you are a supplier, you will find I-catalogs to be a simple marketing tool to promote your products and help you generate sales leads. Contact us to find out more about uploading your documents and see how we can help you turn them into attractive, interactive online publications which can be accessed by thousands of industrial professionals.
