Learning Activity	During this time of self-isolation some people around the Internet have been recreating famous works of art with ordinary household objects. This week you can get creative and have a little fun participating in this viral trend. Google a picture of your favorite classic painting (or just Google famous paintings and pick one if you don't have a favorite) and download it for reference. Grab a few things around your house to use as props and try and recreate the painting in a photograph. Turn in your photograph and also a picture of the painting you are recreating. This exercise will test your ability to create a scene, and also will brush up your composition skills by imitating the composition of a renowned painting. Most of all, just relax and have fun with this project. Look at some examples from the Internet if possible.
