2. METHOD

Describing the method used to solve problems, challenges or problems, answer the research objectives. This should consist of data collection techniques (including sample selection techniques, validity, and reliability of data collection tools), data analysis technique, location, time and duration of activities.

Abbreviation should be explained at the first appearance and should be consistently used until the end part of the article. Please cite the previous method publication, if you refer to the published article, and explain the detail, if you modify the method.

3. RESULT AND DISCUSSION

Results must be presented correctly and accompanied by an explanation without reference to the literature. Original and important findings must be stated. Results must be illustrated with numbers or tables if necessary, but must be kept to a minimum. Detailed discussion, speculation, and interpretation of data are not included in the results, but in the discussion section. Each sub-titles have to be written in sentence case.

For example

3.1 Tables

Tables are made with column width either 80 mm or 170 mm, in single spacing. Use only horizontal lines for borders. For example:

Table 1. The mean of LDL-cholesterol

Group	Mean±SD, mg/dl
	Pre-test	Post-test
Control	50±6 ^a	24.23±4 ^a
Non-exercise	51±4 ^a	97.99±4 ^b
Exercise	54±6 ^a	29.40±2 ^a
p	0.013	< 0.001

^{a,b}Significant ($p > 0.05$).

3.2 Graphs

Graphs created with Microsoft Excel should also be sent in their original Excel file. Present graphs in 2D (not 3D), without shadows or other effects, and without gridlines.

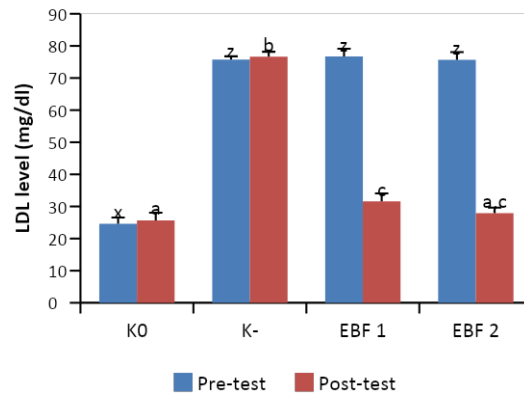

Figure 1. LDL level pre-test and post-test. Different notation shows significant differences ($p < 0.05$). K0: control; K-: negative; EBF1: extract 1; EBF 2: extract 2.

3.3 Photos and figures

The research must contain at maximum 3 (three) figures and/or tables. If a group of photos or figures shows a process, the group is considered 1 (one) figure. Each group of figures have to be prefaced with a description which links the figures. Relevant documentation with a focus on community empowerment
