

Hey Shirley, I noticed you guys are looking for help with digital marketing.

We can boost interest and desire for the bloating masterclass through a series of 5 emails to keep existing customers and new customers engaged to join the waitlist.

- Driving sales and conversions through engaging media captions
- Increasing website/customer engagement.
- Boosting interest and desire in your services.

Hey Amanda, your gut health 101 page is good at relating to people with gut health problems, For example, "Does this sound like you?" headline, with rhetorical questions to connect with their problems.

Are you currently sending out emails to existing customers to encourage more purchases from your website?

By sending out targeted emails, you can inspire existing customers and leads who signed up for your email list to move up the value ladder to buy higher products.

If you're interested I can help you with:

- Driving booked calls through engaging emails.
- Nurturing leads into loyal, returning clients.
- Boosting interest and desire in booking a consultation.

Would you be interested in a quick 15-20 minute call to discuss this further?

Have a good day.

-Austin.
