

Once activated, can a Plugin be deactivated?

Plugins are small, but effective software modules that seamlessly integrate with your Tagrain Edition and contain features that extend the functionality offered in Tagrain.

Imagine plugins to be small Apps designed specifically for your Tagrain Edition. And quite like the Apps, plugins can also be deactivated.

An active plugin can always be deactivated during your subscription cycle. If for some reason you decide to deactivate the plugin during the subscription period, the plugin will be available for 'reactivation' without any additional price till the end of the subscription period.

A deactivated plugin, within the subscription period is listed in the Already Active tab on the Purchase Subscription page. Selecting the checkbox and completing the checkout process will reactivate the plugin at no extra charge.

This further means that the subscription amount of the plugin is neither refunded nor adjusted in the subsequent billing cycle.

Keeping a plugin active till the end of the current subscription cycle has many advantages.

- Doing so ensures that you get value for your investment.
- You always have the option to 'reactivate' the plugin without incurring any additional charges.

Though the application allows you to deactivate plugins, in our experience, retailers normally do not deactivate their plugins.

Suggested Readings

What are Plugins and do I need them?

How do Plugins affect my subscription amount?

How do I activate the Plugins?

Can I reactivate a deactivated Plugin?

What happens to my data once a plugin is deactivated?

Can I activate the monthly plugin plan when base is on annual?

Do I get a refund or is the amount adjusted in my subscription billing when a plugin is deactivated?