

..At your attention ..

Inquisitor Asmodeus Fara'vher, your compassionate grand diviner sends his sincerest empathy for your recent loss of life and kin. You'll find enclosed a sum of 10 gold pieces to aid towards your funeral expenses as well as the enclosed deed to a burial columbarium for the assumed ashes of your loved one.

Prospera vita, ultra aeternitatem

Further enclosed are details of your reassignment.

You are expected to tie up any personal ends within the week, the diviner has made great stead with negotiations with his the humble and honorable Arkroan Emperor. Going forward, you will be partaking in a trade of citizenship with one of his chosen arcanists as a sign of good faith and to quell any unfound rumours of political torture from both sides.

As such, you are expected to follow the Emperor's rule as if he was one's own diviner. However, you must retain that above all your loyalty still retains to us lest any unfound issues arise.

Fortunately, the king has also put forward a petty sum of payment for your borrowed services which you'll find fairly and justly taxed for your kingdom's purposes.

Servite Divinis