Dear steemians,

For the fifth time, I would like to introduce a special person that I wish you'll welcome on the steemit community :)

After presenting @wolfgangsieberth, @carinalopes and starting to share our work at @globalschool, my friend @cajila and the Global school old timer participant @noemi0806 who became mentor and cc contributor, my friend the famous poetry slam artist @jonas.scheiner decided to join our lovely community on steemit.

Yes, it's true!

Joining from Hanover, Germany and after studied international development Jonas is living in Vienna where he is working on a lot of very interesting social projects. His main activity is related to the FOMP collective.

One of the other big activity of Jonas is working on Routes - die Europareise in deiner Stadt in which he is project manager coordinating all the cultural programs at Impact Hub Vienna.

From last September 2017, Jonas is also one of the contributor and mentor at the @globalschool. In which he particularly helped in coordination, planning, supervising and mentoring as well as notably to write a lot of concepts and helped won the 2017 AWS award of the Vienna creative agency for which we applied with our partner Co-space and our project "Com-lab" (step toward the implementation of the @IdeaMachine Wien).

Passionated by human nature, I feel lucky I have been crossing his path when he joined at Co-Space where I was working as CIO part time and volunteering the rest of the time to initiate the @globalschoo helped by my friend @manncpt last year. From that time, I am in love with Jonas I see as my other friends as a super star. I love to meet him, cooperate with him and having his trust and empowerment means a lot.

Yesterday, Jonas accepted to create an account on steemit and offered me to help me manage it as he is a busy bee and just to give you an idea, last year he was more than 120 days on stage around Europe. So, as I am already helping to manage the communication and guide a number of famous french and international artists/creatives/social entrepreneurs in assuming a digital presence, I was glad to count on him to be the first them to join steemit. When Jonas also offered me with generosity all the reward of this account for my work, I refused and asked him to wait until June, so he can show and demonstrate to his friends and collective its worth for them too to use the steem blockchain in order as a lot of non profit who can know some financial issue a new way to reward the contribution of each other making their social object a sustainable reality. However, afterward a part of the reward of that account will be used to support the @globalschool and @cccommons.art and friends initiatives.

So as you'll discover Jonas is not only a unique character, a heartfelt hard worker, a dedicated social entrepreneur, a wonderful project manager, a mindful leader, a brilliant artist, a genius sharing poetry slam or a multi talented person or an amazing friend I wish everyone to have, as all of you, he is much more than that!

Today, I am happy to count him not as a colleague but as a real friend sharing values. I have faith that someday after June when he will be less busy we'll cooperate further.

I am faithful, steemit is the opportunity I was dreaming about to accomplish such cooperation and valorize his work, commitment and creativity!

You are interested in poetry slam, culture, great events, you loved @globalschool and other social ideas I shared with you that Jonas have been committing to?? Then you should probably follow and support him. He is a growing talent. And I am sure he is sharing a lot in common interests with us and you'll probably find a lot of things to exchange with him!

Currently, he is planning to write about his past and future activities, struggles and adventures and on everything that surrounds him and every significative experience that he is living. He might as well share his poetry slam once in a while and maybe he will share his experience about the Global School project in which he is contributing. :)

Hope he will also find the time to cooperate together to develop the @globalschool, @frameworks and other social ideas such as @ideamachine, @inyoursteem and @cccommons.art!

If it is not by me or, @alexandravart, @manncpt, the @GlobalSchool or @cccommons.art and friends, I am sure you'll hear or read about him anyway!

I think I could write a lot about him and the amazing journey he is going through, however, I'll try to let him share himself his own story and just be the messenger! :-)
