CAMPAIGN JOURNALS & IN-SESSION TOOLS

The Goblin's Notebook - new and shiny!

- See all of your adventure components on one page, with easy relationship management, cross-linking, and full markdown support.
- Link anything to anything else (with fully custom relationship definitions), and filter objects by connections. Also, connect objects to Chapters and show only that Chapter's objects on your screen.
- Turn on Campaign Logging Mode and track changes to objects (and take notes!) in real time.

World Anvil - worldbuilding tool, industry giant.

- Includes a Digital Story Teller Screen for use during sessions, which includes a dice roller and a chat log. Also provides access to your entire built world of information in the background.

Chronica - useful for players too!

- DM worldbuilding tools as well as Player inventory tracking. Includes a handy group chat.
- Neat shop mechanic: the DM can populate a shop with items, and the players can buy them, which modifies their inventory.

Campaign Logger - great for using random tables

- Powerful application for fast-and-furious note-taking with on-the-fly tagging of characters, items, locations, and more. Allows you to cross-reference your notes as you're writing them.

Adventurer's Codex

- Contains some rules references, and handles automation of character sheet info. Can also store campaign notes.

WORLD-BUILDING AND CATALOGUE TOOLS

World Anvil - the ultimate world-building tool

- Highly customizable. Publish "articles" for your information. Tags and cross-referencing is easy.
- Includes a Digital Story Teller Screen for use during sessions.

LegendKeeper - map-based organization

- Free-form Wiki, integrated Atlas, and collaborative Boards
- Browser-based, and also works offline!

Kanka - mobile friendly!

- Mixes spreadsheet sortability with wiki-esque entry editing. Great for keeping track of locations, NPCs, lore, and much more.

Fantasia Archive - OFFLINE, dark mode, markdown

- Offline-capable Markdown file manager with fancy features, like adding tags and searching.

Obsidian Portal

- Your campaign gains a website, and you edit it as a website. A bit finicky, but allows lots of customization.

Scabard

- Amazing for populating your world with NPCs. Provides a powerful Relationships tool to help you keep track.

City of Brass - Free or $5/mo

- Very clean wiki-esque content creation tool.

DM Binder

- WYSIWYG editor. Information is stored on pages that you can link to and share.

RealmWorks - $49.99

- It's an older software, but it checks out!

Tavern Keeper - hasn't seen an update in 7 years.

- Make a wiki for your campaign info. Player Characters can roleplay using text on a private channel.

NOTE-TAKING AND ORGANIZATION TOOLS

Notion

Combines the functionality of GDocs, Evernote, GitHubWiki, Trello/Jira, and Airtable/GSheets.

- Here's an example setup template you can use.
- Sly Flourish's thoughts on using Notion, with his own template

Obsidian.md

Locally-hosted markdown files displayed nicely in a fresh, modern note-taking experience
