Introduction

(Garamond 12, Bold, All Caps for Section Title)

The introduction should provide background, research problem, objectives, and theoretical framework. Use Garamond 12 for text, justified alignment, single spacing, and avoid indenting the first paragraph.

Method

Explain the research type, data collection, data sources, data analysis, and study scope. Write in paragraph format, using Garamond 12. Subheadings are allowed and should follow the main formatting style (Bold Garamond 12).

Results and Discussion

(Garamond 12, Bold, All Caps for Section Title)

- Results: Provide findings from data collection, supported by tables, figures, or graphs if necessary. Tables and figures should be numbered sequentially and include clear titles and sources (e.g., Table 1, Figure 1).
- Discussion: Link findings to the study's objectives and discuss their significance, supported by references.

Conclusion

(Garamond 12, Bold, All Caps for Section Title)

Summarize the main findings of the study, their implications, and future research recommendations. Do not include citations in this section.

Acknowledgment

(Optional)

Acknowledgment of funding sources, contributors, or institutions. Example: "This research was supported by [Funding Body] through [Grant Number]."

References

Use APA 7th edition formatting. List only works cited in the text, with a minimum of 80% from primary sources (journal articles). Use Garamond 12, single spacing, and a hanging indent.
